THOUSANDS of passengers were stranded at the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) on Friday as Terminal 1, known for its iconic design, descended into chaos, overcrowding and exhaustion, resembling a refugee camp.

As 292 IndiGo flights were cancelled and abrupt disruptions continued for the fourth day on Friday, there was little clarity and passengers' frustration only grew. Arguments broke out between passengers, airline staff and Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) personnel. Fares on other airlines skyrocketed to Rs 1 lakh for routes to Mumbai, Delhi, Kolkata and Chennai.

With limited seating available, families and solo travellers stretched out on the floors, some sleeping on jackets, while others leaning against luggage, turning the terminal into a crowded waiting hall.

A family enroute to Haridwar for 'asthi visarjan' was stranded, even as the daughter of the deceased held a urn that had the remains of her father. They had no option other than paying exorbitant sums for an alternative ticket. Even as passengers struggled, no food or alternative flight arrangements were made.

Hyderabad-bound passenger Jayesh Menon told TNIE that flyers were initially informed about one-hour delays, that repeated multiple times before the flights were cancelled. But even a bigger crisis awaited flyers as many were unable to retrieve their checked-in baggage for four to five hours. "People are angry, sad, every emotion you can think of," he added.

Several stranded passengers continued waiting for their luggage late into the evening, while others scrambled to find alternative travel arrangements amid disruptions, he added.

RANCHI TO B'LURU: A 36-HR ORDEAL

What should have taken a routine 2.5-hour journey from Ranchi to Bengaluru turned out to be a 36-hour ordeal for Sanjay Choraria and his wife. They started on Thursday at 7 am to reach the airport early for their 8.50 am IndiGo flight, only to face repeated one-hour delays that stretched endlessly until the airline abruptly cancelled the flight at 4 pm. The only alternative offered was a punishing detour - Ranchi to Kolkata to Chennai to Bengaluru. But a bigger nightmare awaited them on the Kolkata to Chennai with the 9.40 pm departure repeatedly pushed past midnight and to 2.30 am. It finally took off at 4 am after tensions boiled over. In Chennai, passengers were dealt another blow when the final flight to Bengaluru was cancelled. Exhausted and out of options, the couple hired a private cab and reached Bengaluru at 7 pm on Friday. ENS

Hubballi bride, groom attend reception online

Hubballi: IT was a full house at a marriage hall in Hubballi. There were close to 700 guests who arrived to bless the couple for their reception. But there were no bride and groom. They came on live on screen from Bhubaneshwar. Following countrywide delays in air traffic involving Indigo Airlines, the bride and groom could not make it. However, the bride's parents were at the venue to complete the rituals. The parents of the bride, Medha, at the last minute decided to host the party and ensured the bride and groom got ready and came online at the marriage hall. Medha and Sangam Das were married on December 23 in Odisha and the reception was scheduled on December 3 in Hubballi. They were to fly to Mumbai on December 2 and then to Hubballi. -- Amit S Upadhye

DCM sets deadlines for Metro Blue Line

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday directed contractors to complete the Blue Line Metro corridor within the revised deadlines, warning that firms failing to meet timelines would not be considered for future government projects.

Shivakumar issued the instructions after inspecting ongoing construction at Kodigehalli, a key stretch of the 58-km line connecting Silk Board to Kempegowda International Airport.

The government aims to complete the KR Puram to Silk Board section by December 2026. Contractors have committed to finishing the KR Puram to Hebbal stretch by December 2027 and the Hebbal to Airport section by June 2027. The Rs 15,000 crore corridor will have 30 stations, he said.

Shivakumar said the government is exploring the possibility of starting limited train operations once five to ten stations along the route are completed.

"Regardless of criticism, the work must continue. After a fatal accident, construction is being carried out only at night with strict traffic monitoring," he said, adding that complaints about delays by contractor NCC had been noted.

He also instructed that the major machinery deployed onsite must not be moved out of Bengaluru until the work is completed, with Tushar Girinath, Additional Chief Secretary, GBA tasked with overseeing the process.

The DCM also reviewed progress on the Bengaluru Business Corridor (BBC) project, directing officials to deposit compensation at old rates in court for landowners who refuse the government's package. He said farmers are being offered five compensation options, including TDR, FAR and an unprecedented provision of 35% commercial land along the project stretch.

"No other state in the country offers so many options. No matter what anyone says, I will not denotify land," he said.

Addressing a delegation of Swamijis, Shivakumar said their request for land in Bengaluru for accommodation during visits would be examined, calling their appeal "justified." On their expressed wish to see him become Chief Minister, he reiterated that the party decisions would prevail.

ORR RIDDLE

IT minister, GBA chief meet industry leaders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MINISTER for IT/BT and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj, Priyank M Kharge, along with senior government officials including Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao, met CXO representatives of leading companies operating along the Outer Ring Road (ORR) corridor at a Town Hall organised by the Outer Ring Road Companies Association (ORRCA) in Bengaluru on Friday.

During the interaction, industry leaders flagged key issues such as last-mile connectivity to Metro stations, condition of service roads and footpaths, congestion at major junctions, accumulation of garbage in high-density stretches, telecom disruptions due to continuous construction and the need for smoother integration between Metro, buses and workplace transport solutions.

Addressing the gathering, Kharge said that the ORR corridor remains one of the most economically dense and strategically important business districts in the country and must be supported with matching quality of infrastructure and governance.

The minister said the state government has already earmarked Rs 450 crore for comprehensive road upgradation along the Silk Board to KR Puram stretch, which will include black-topping, service roads, street lighting and pedestrian infrastructure.

He added that the government will also replicate this model of structured engagement across other major brownfield business and technology corridors such as Whitefield, Peenya and Manyata, to systematically identify and resolve area-specific challenges.

The IT Minister also informed participants that these efforts are being undertaken as part of a high-level committee chaired by Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and vice-chaired by him, which is mandated to provide long-term solutions to traffic, mobility and infrastructure bottlenecks in Bengaluru's major technology hubs.

GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao said that close coordination between BBMP, BMRCL, Traffic Police and other agencies is under way to ensure smoother implementation of projects.

NLSIU's Manhar Bansal bags Rhodes Scholarship

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MANHAR Bansal, a final-year BA LLB (Hons) student from the Bengaluru-based National Law School of India University (NLSIU), is among the six Rhodes Scholar-elect from India for 2026. With this, Bansal has joined the hallowed ranks in NLSIU with 25 other scholars who received the prestigious academic honours in previous years. Bansal will head to the University of Oxford in October 2026 to join more than 100 scholars from around the world to undertake fully funded post-graduate studies. At Oxford, he intends to pursue MSt in Comparative Literature and Critical Translation.

"I think the Rhodes Scholarship is a wonderful opportunity allowing me to develop my academic and intellectual interests. NLS has been an increasingly interdisciplinary university and my degree is not just in law but also the social sciences and humanities," Bansal said. "From the first year, as I sat in classrooms, I understood the expanse of possibilities which humanities offers; it allows you to contemplate the human condition, in all its terror and beauty, and that's what draws me to it."

His academic writings has been published in multiple venues and has received recognition by the Society for Humanistic Anthropology and the South Asian Studies Association of Australia. At NLSIU, he was the chief editor of a student journal, headed a student-led academic support programme and co-convened a theory reading group. He aspires to a public-facing academic career with the aim of introducing humanistic education to young people.

Last year, NLSIU's Vibha Swaminathan bagged the scholarship.

BENGALURU is set to host the much-awaited Bangalore Literature Festival, inviting book lovers, writers, and literary enthusiasts to celebrate reading and writing under the winter sun. The 14th edition of the festival would be held in Freedom Park, aims to bring together authors from Karnataka, across India, and around the world, creating a platform where diverse literary voices can meet and converse. This time the fest is being held in Freedom Park to make it more accessible to people in the city rather than confining it to confined spaces, said the organisers.

Describing the festival's vision, V Ravichandar, a member of the festival organising team, said, "Bengaluru has always had a deep reading culture, and the festival simply amplifies what already exists in the city. This year, we want to keep the programming rooted in diverse voices while making space for new writers and fresh conversations."

The festival seeks to highlight Bengaluru's creative spirit while commemorating its literary diversity and connecting it with global literary trends.

The two-day event promises an engaging lineup of sessions, including discussions on contemporary writing, poetry, regional literature, children's literature, translation, and publishing. Visitors can look forward to interactions with both established authors and emerging talents. There will also be opportunities for book signings, panel discussions, and curated spaces dedicated to specific genres, providing attendees with both formal and informal avenues to engage with literature.

The festival will see appearances from notable figures such as Banu Mushtaq, Amish Tripathi, Sudha Murty, Shashi Tharoor, Chetan Bhagat, Clare Mackintosh, Vir Das, Gauri Shinde, Jeet Thayil, American journalist Karen Hao and many more.

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

06th December : Surreal Closing Trine This week ends a little like the traditional nursery rhyme where the cow jumps over the moon and the dish runs away with the spoon. Except in this ditty, Venus rides a centaur over the moon and Piscean fish swim away with Jupiter's blessing of good fortune down a waterfall splashing on the mirror of tomorrow's dreams.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Lately, everything seems to run together -- as soon as one thing ends, another begins. If you want real downtime, you'll have to claim it deliberately. The world won't pause unless you do.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
You're not auditioning for the approval of anyone. These friends, clients, bosses, neighbors, dates -- they either match up and fit in your world, or they don't today. You're the one casting the show, and don't forget that.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
Your curiosity influences the scene. People open up around you. Your questions make them think differently, then listen. Advice isn't needed. The way you move through the world is teaching enough.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
There's a power shuffle in the air -- nothing dramatic, just a few egos bumping. You'll spot it right away and, with a little charm or humor, smooth things out before anyone even knows there was tension.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Today you might notice that you feel more guarded around certain people. Some folks are safe places for your feelings; others aren't. Save your honesty for the good listeners who won't use it against you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
You live your spirituality today. It's not about your worshipful practices or charitable donations. It's how you move through the world, your attitude as you tend to your routines and work and how you get along with the people around you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
If you find yourself oscillating between belief and disbelief, it's only because you're so tuned into fakery right now. People tell white lies. Clones voice ads as celebrities. Products don't really work. Your skepticism will save you time and money today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
Again, you're trying to go under the radar. But sometimes this makes you more alluring. When multitudes clamor for attention, everyone wonders about the private life or inner world that wants none.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You've seized the day so often, you do it with finesse. Often, the day doesn't want to be grabbed or snatched, but it is fine being held. Stay with the action, which will move spontaneously.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
The more you stare at what's wrong, the bigger it looks. Shift your focus to what you want instead. Keep walking toward that picture. It will be wild how fast life starts rearranging itself to match.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Pain doesn't cancel out beauty; it's part of the same spectrum that makes your soul capable of wonder. Feeling deeply, even when it hurts, is the price and privilege of a vivid inner life.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
You're diving into something new -- no practice runs, just splash and go. Luckily, you catch on fast. Before long you'll be moving with the current, right in rhythm with the tide.

He stressed that waqf property caretakers who have not registered on the portal can approach their Waqf tribunal for further help

India-Russia Economic Roadmap 2030 launched; FTA talks to be fast-tracked

Modi nudges Putin to end Ukraine war, says the conflict must end through dialogue, diplomacy

INDIA, RUSSIA FAST FORWARD

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA and Russia on Friday unveiled an extensive plan to turbocharge their partnership, doubling down amid Western sanctions, even as Prime Minister Narendra Modi reiterated that peace in Ukraine must come through dialogue, adding India is on "the side of peace".

The new agreements and collaborations, spanning energy, shipping, mobility, minerals, pharmaceuticals, and health amount to one of the most ambitious upgrades to the India-Russia relationship in a decade. Both leaders used the summit to reaffirm the historical continuity of their partnership.

"Over the past eight decades, the world has witnessed numerous ups and downs. Humanity has had to pass through many challenges and crises. And amidst all this, the India-Russia friendship has remained steadfast like a pole star. These relations, rooted in mutual respect and deep trust, have always stood the test of time," Modi said.

Central to the talks was the launch of the India-Russia Economic Roadmap 2030, a sweeping framework that aims to raise bilateral trade to $100 billion annually. The roadmap outlines plans to set up an Indian pharma manufacturing facility in Russia, initiate joint urea production in India, and create new training programmes for Indian seafarers. It also prioritises enhanced shipbuilding and shipping connectivity, including cooperation on the Northern Sea Route, deeper engagement on critical minerals and global supply-chain security, e-visa access for Russian nationals, and the operationalisation of a full-fledged Indo-Russian mobility pact. Modi said the roadmap reflected their "common priority" to take the economic partnership to "new heights," noting ongoing efforts to conclude a free trade pact between India and the Eurasian Economic Union.

The Ukraine conflict featured prominently in the discussions. "India has advocated for peace on the Ukraine issue from the very beginning. We welcome all efforts being made for a peaceful and lasting resolution of this matter," Modi said. P11

Putin offers 'uninterrupted fuel shipments'

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AMID US pressure to curb Russian oil imports, Russian President Vladimir Putin on Friday assured India of an "uninterrupted supply" of fuel.

"Russia is a reliable supplier of energy resources and everything necessary for the development of India's energy sector. We are ready to continue ensuring the uninterrupted supply of fuel for the rapidly growing Indian economy," Putin said while speaking to the media alongside Prime Minister Narendra Modi after the 23rd annual summit between the two countries.

In his comments, Modi did not mention oil directly but highlighted that "energy security has been a strong and important pillar of the India-Russia partnership."

In a joint statement, the two leaders said that in the current complex, tense, and uncertain geopolitical situation, Russian-Indian ties remain resilient to external pressure.

The Russian leader's visit comes amid US efforts to broker peace between Russia and Ukraine, with Washington criticising India's oil imports from Russia. US President Donald Trump imposed 50% tariffs on most Indian goods, and alleged that purchases of Russian oil were funding the war—a claim India has consistently denied.

Putin also outlined steps to deepen cooperation, including using national currencies for bilateral payments and expanding energy collaboration.

"Russia and India pursue independent foreign policies and work together in BRICS and SCO for a more just and democratic multipolar world order," he said.

DGCA blinks, withdraws weekly rest rule for pilots

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

WITH over 1,000 IndiGo flights cancelled on Thursday and all 235 domestic departures from Delhi grounded for 24 hours, Civil Aviation Minister Ram Mohan Naidu on Friday announced immediate suspension of aviation regulator DGCA's revised Flight Duty Time Limitations (FDTL) norms to ease crew shortages that resulted in the crisis.

Naidu assured that IndiGo services would be fully restored within three days, with schedules stabilising by Saturday. However, IndiGo CEO Pieter Elbers contradicted the timeline, stating in a video message that normalcy would return only by December 10–15. The airline had earlier informed DGCA that a complete recovery of flying schedules could take until February 1, 2026.

After an emergency review meeting with ministry, DGCA, AAI and IndiGo officials, Naidu announced a high-level inquiry into the flight disruption. A four-member DGCA panel has been asked to submit its report within two weeks.

On Friday too, chaos gripped airports nationwide as irate passengers protested at Delhi's IGIA terminals. Similar scenes unfolded in Bengaluru (100+ cancellations) and Hyderabad (90+). Chennai suspended IndiGo's domestic operations on Friday. CHAOS IN KIA: P4

RBI cuts repo rate by 25 bps to lift economy

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE RBI on Friday cut the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.25%, aiming to lend a lease of life to the economy amid global headwinds including steep US tariffs. This is the fourth rate cut since Governor Sanjay Malhotra took charge last December, bringing cumulative reductions to 125 basis points from 6.5%. The six-member Monetary Policy Committee unanimously voted for the rate cut and retained a neutral stance, which keeps room open for further cuts. The RBI also announced an additional liquidity boost of ₹1 lakh crore through two tranches of government bond purchases scheduled for December 11 and 18, along with $5 billion in dollar-rupee buy-sell swaps later this month. These aim to ease seasonal liquidity pressures.

A cut in repo will lead to lower borrowing costs for individuals as well as corporate houses because it reduces the interest banks pay to borrow from the RBI. With cheaper funding, banks can lower lending rates making home, auto, business loans more affordable.

Reiterating that the RBI has "no official level for the rupee", Malhotra clarified that "the over 5% year-to-date plunge of the currency is not a worry."

CHANGE IN THE AIR? DKS TRIES TO BREAK ICE WITH SIDDU CAMP

Priyank Kharge meets DK bros; DCM meets Satish, discusses issues of the state and party

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

DEVELOPMENTS in the ruling Congress after two breakfast meetings between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar indicate that the party high command is working out a formula for smooth transition of power in Karnataka.

On the central leaders' advice, Shivakumar attempted to break the ice with Siddaramaiah and his camp, but the CM did not respond in kind. If Siddaramaiah is to transfer power to Shivakumar, the process is likely to be prolonged, as the CM's sympathisers continue to resist any such move. Sources said if the choice was left to Siddaramaiah, or AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge is to be the next CM, transition of power would be easy.

Sources said that APMC Minister Shivanand Patil met Kharge in Delhi on Friday, and insisted that he should consider taking the mantle, but Kharge is interested in securing the political future of his son, RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge.

Siddaramaiah and DK Shivakumar met over breakfast twice recently amid murmurs of change in leadership

On Friday, Priyank met Shivakumar and his brother and former Member of Parliament DK Suresh, and held talks for about an hour. He had met Rahul Gandhi in Delhi recently and briefed him about the situation in the state, and is likely to have conveyed Rahul's message to Shivakumar.

Meanwhile, on Thursday evening, at a wedding reception in New Delhi -- that of actor Sudeep's family member -- Shivakumar, who is also president of the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC), held discussions with Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi, who is in the running for the KPCC chief's post. Siddaramaiah's son MLC Yathindra has termed Jarkiholi as his father's ideological heir. On Friday, Shivakumar met Industries Minister MB Patil, a Lingayat, and held talks for about one hour.

MLC BK Hariprasad is likely to convey to senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi that status quo should be maintained in Karnataka, as five states, including Kerala, go to polls in 2026. In Kerala, AICC general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal is running for the CM's post, according to sources.

Not Satish Jarkiholi's foe, says Shivakumar

Deputy CM Shivakumar confirmed that he had met Satish Jarkiholi at a wedding on Thursday. "It is true that Satish Jarkiholi and I met at a wedding last evening. We discussed the issues of the state and party. We are colleagues, why do you paint us as enemies? We may be in the Cabinet meeting together in the afternoon, and meet for dinner in the evening. Or we may meet for breakfast in the morning. Friendships and bonding are common in politics," he asserted.

"I spoke to MB Patil, we discussed several things, how to attract investors and competition from Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. Telangana is also holding a global summit soon. We discussed how to compete at the global level," he elaborated.

RELIGIOUS HEADS FROM MBCs BAT FOR DKS AS CM

Religious heads from the most backward communities (MBCs) led by Ediga community's Sri Pranavananda Swami urged the Congress high command to make DCM DK Shivakumar the CM. Guided by the Channagiri Congress MLA, a team of 11 seers met Shivakumar at his residence on Friday. When asked about the visit by seers, Shivakumar said that they have sought a place in Bengaluru to stay when they visit the city and he is considering allotting a CA site. "I cannot comment on their love. They can express their desire. But both the CM and I have said that we will abide the top brass' decision," Shivakumar said.

Herald case: DK bros get notice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DELHI Police's Economic Offences Wing (EOW) has issued notices to Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and his younger brother DK Suresh, former Bengaluru Rural MP, seeking detailed financial and transactional information as part of its ongoing investigation into the National Herald case.

As per the notice, dated November 29, Shivakumar is believed to possess "vital information" related to the case registered on October 3 against senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi and LoP in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi. The DK brothers have been asked to appear before investigators or submit the documents by December 19. Sources close to Shivakumar confirmed the notice was issued to him.

The EOW has sought details on Shivakumar's personal and political background, his association with the Congress, and a complete breakdown of funds allegedly transferred by him or linked entities to Young Indian. Investigators also want information on the purpose and source of these transfers, any communication with Young Indian Trust or AICC officials, and whether the payments were made under instructions from others. Income-tax filings, financial statements, and donation certificates related to the transactions have also been requested.

It may be recalled that both Shivakumar and Suresh had reportedly admitted they had personally donated Rs 25 lakh each to Young Indian Trust that runs the Congress party's National Herald newspaper. They had claimed that they had done it legally, from their own income. They had also faced an ED inquiry in the same case.

Introduce Bhagavad Gita in schools: HDK to Dharmendra Pradhan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy has written to Union Minister for Education Dharmendra Pradhan, urging him to include the Bhagavad Gita in the school curriculum. The National Education Policy (CEP) places strong emphasis on value-based education, Kumaraswamy, a former chief minister, said, adding that introducing selected teachings from the Gita will help inculcate moral strength, clarity of thought and character among students.

In his letter, Kumaraswamy said that India has long been a land of saints, knowledge, and enduring civilisational values. Sanatana Dharma upholds the universal ideal of Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam, he said. "In his eighth avatara as Sri Krishna, Bhagwan Vishnu imparted the eternal wisdom of the Bhagavad Gita, which emphasises Nishkama Karma and the importance of performing one's duty with sincerity and dedication. These values are of immense relevance, especially in the present global environment," Kumraswamy said.

On Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent visit to Sri Krishna Mutt in Udupi to attend the Bhagavad Gita recitation programme, Kumaraswamy said that the former upheld and highlighted the core principles of Sanatana Dharma.

Further, Kumaraswamy said that he also had the privilege of attending the Gita recitation programme in Shivamogga recently, which was an inspiring event. "It offered a wonderful opportunity to recite the Gita and experience the profound energy and devotion associated with it," he said, adding that several local leaders and parents have requested that teachings from the Bhagavad Gita be included in the school curriculum. On 'X', Kumaraswamy posted a photo of Modi presenting the Bhagavad Gita to Russian President Vladimir Putin.

"It is equally important that children are introduced to our epics - the Ramayana, composed by Maharshi Valmiki and the Mahabharata authored by Bhagavan Vyasa," Kumaraswamy added in his letter.

Ready to resign if I've lied: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CARTIER EPISODE

KARNATAKA Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said on Friday that he would resign if he has lied about his watches and challenged if Leader of Opposition in the Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy would resign if he had lied.

"I have provided correct information about my watches to Lokayukta and all authorities concerned. I will resign today if I have given false information on this. If not, will Narayanaswamy resign?" the Deputy Chief Minister asked.

Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, Shivakumar said Narayanaswamy doesn't have experience, and there must be basic common sense to talk about anything."I have given all the details to the Lokayukta; he can go and verify," he said.

On Narayanaswamy raising a question about not disclosing details about his watches in the affidavits of the 2018 and 2023 Assembly elections, Shivakumar said, "What does he know? I have mentioned it even in the 2025 affidavit." Shivakumar posted the affidavit submitted to Lokayukta on 'X.'

The BJP leaders had accused the DyCM of not mentioning the Cartier watch in his affidavits filed during the Assembly polls.

Cong, BJP spar over Upa Lokayukta's corruption remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE political slugfest over the Upa Lokayukta's remarks on 63% corruption in the state continued for the second day on Friday. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa was citing the Transparency International India report submitted in November 2019 when the BJP was in power. Leader of Opposition in the Assembly, R Ashoka, hit back, saying that although the report was released in 2019, the survey was conducted in 2018, when Siddaramaiah was the CM.

The CM said the BJP was circulating a fake narrative by twisting the Upa Lokayukta's words. "BJP leaders, in their hurry to attack us, have only exposed their own record. From the 40% commission regime to Covid procurement scams, PSI recruitment scam, irrigation project illegalities, and cases where even their own workers levelled charges - BJP's corruption track record needs no introduction. Today, they are misquoting an old report to escape present-day accountability," the Chief Minister said.

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said the BJP exposed its own corruption, without even realising it. "Instead of pointing fingers at Karnataka, the BJP must explain why India has fallen to 96th globally in corruption under their rule. We are cleaning up the mess they left behind. BJP should stop lying and start owning its corruption," he posted on 'X'.

Ashoka hit back at the CM asking, "How many times will you repeat the same lie, CM Siddaramaiah avare? Yes, the report was released in 2019, but the survey was done for the previous year, 2018, when you were the Chief Minister and your Congress government was looting Karnataka. So the 63% corruption figure you're shouting about is actually a report card of your own government, not ours."

Ashoka said after calling it a Lokayukta report on Thursday night, the CM edited his post on 'X'. "At least the correction shows you realised how badly you had blundered. But now let's set the facts straight," he said. The BJP leader asked the CM why his government consistently placed Karnataka at the top of the corruption charts, year after year.

Taking to 'X', state BJP president BY Vijayendra said Bengaluru's auto-meters seem far more consistent and reliable than the Congress government's ever-changing commission rate, which conveniently fluctuates with the political season.

Bruhat Belagavi Chalo planned by ASHA workers during winter session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AHEAD of the winter session in Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi from December 8, ASHA workers from across Karnataka are planning a 'Bruhat Belagavi Chalo' on December 10 in Belagavi.

Leader of ASHA Workers' Union Nagalakshmi said that there are 42,000 ASHA workers working in the state health department.

"The salary paid to them is Rs 8,000-9,000 and there is no fixed salary. While the State Government pays Rs 5,000, the Union Government pays Rs 3,000-4000," she said, adding that there is no fixed payment from the Centre as they pay ASHA workers based on their performance.

Vidhana Soudha staffers shift documents of winter session into a truck that will be travelling to Belagavi | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

"However, they are assigned 34 different jobs in the health department. This is why we protested in January 2025 in Bengaluru continuously for four days. On the fifth day, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah promised to pay us Rs 1,000 extra making it to a total amount of Rs 10,000. However, it has been 11 months and we have not received any increment in the salary," she added.

Nagalakshmi also highlighted that the State Government boasts of being the first state in the country to implement software systems introduced by the Centre like ASHA Soft, SPARSH and others.

"There is a shortage of staff in the health department to enter this data in the software. Due to lack of entry of proper job completion data in these software, every month, we receive Rs 500 to 1,000 less from the Centre. A few months ago, the State Government implemented the Centre's SPARSH software due to which we haven't received salaries for nearly three months from the centre," she added.

Minister MB Patil gives ₹2cr to CM's relief fund

Karnataka Minister for Large and Medium Scale Industries MB Patil handed over a ₹2 crore dividend from Karanataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) to the Chief Minister's Relief Fund on the occasion of the inauguration of the newly constructed building of the Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) in Bengaluru on Thursday. CM Siddaramaiah inaugurated the multi-storey building built at a cost of ₹32 crore in 2,618 sqm plot. Deputy CM DK Shivakumar was also present. Meanwhile, MLA RV Deshpande, who had approved the proposal for construction of KIADB building during his tenure as Industries Minister, was felicitated at the event.

CM holds review meeting with excise, commercial tax depts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN the run-up to next year's state budget, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday conducted review meetings with the commercial tax and excise departments.

A target of Rs 1,20,000 crore has been fixed for the Department of Commercial Tax for the 2025-26 financial year. The department authorities have collected Rs 72,131 crore as against Rs 80,000 crore for November. This includes GST of Rs 53,522 crore, KST of Rs 17,595 crore, and Professional Tax of Rs 1,014 crore. From April to August this year, a growth rate of 12% was achieved. However, due to changes in GST rates, in the last three months, the growth rate in tax collection has been only 3%. The CM has instructed officials to achieve the 100% target, the release from the CMO read.

The commercial tax department officials have conducted close to 13,000 inspections that resulted in the collection of Rs 3,183 crore in taxes. The CM has instructed the Commercial Tax intelligence wing to carry out continuous inspections to prevent tax evasion.

The CM also instructed the officials to watch out for bogus input tax credit cases and to initiate criminal proceedings and legal action in such cases.

The CM reviewed the Excise Department. For the year 2025-26, an excise revenue target of Rs 43,000 crore was set. Rs 26,215 crore has been collected this year till November. Compared to last year, excise revenue collection has recorded a growth rate of 10.46%.

Dr G: CORRUPT POLICEMEN WILL ALSO BE DISMISSED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

"POLICEMEN involved in corrupt practices will not only be suspended but also dismissed from service, after their involvement is verified," warned Home Minister G Parameshwara, here on Friday.

He was addressing the media at the state police headquarters on Nrupathunga Road after flagging off three 'Hygiene on Go' mobile sanitation vehicles for Bengaluru Traffic Police. On nearly 130 policemen being suspended in Bengaluru, he said the only way to stop corrupt practices is either through suspension or dismissal. The police constable, who was involved in the recent broad daylight heist of Rs 7.11 crore will be dismissed from service. If any dismissed cop goes to the court challenging the dismissal, the government will go even to the Supreme Court and ensure that such policemen will never get the job again. There is no mercy for corrupt policemen. Immediate action is being taken whenever such incidents come to light, he added.

On cybercrimes, he said that since the beginning of this year around 13,000 cases have been registered. In 2024, around 21,995 and in 2023, around 21,903 cases were registered, he said.

On fighting the drug menace, he said, "The Bengaluruy police have achieved a milestone in their fight against drug abuse and peddling. In 2025, they have registered 1,078 NDPS cases and arrested 1,491 Indian nationals and 52 foreigners. The police seized 1,446.75 kg of drugs worth approximately Rs 120.14 crore. In the last three years, 15,678 NDPS cases have been registered in the state. Legal action has been taken by arresting 19,197 Indian nationals and 211 foreigners," he said. On videos and photos showing inmates having a field day at Bengaluru Central Prison, he said some of those videos are three to four years old. Action will be taken against the erring prison staff, he said.

'Hygiene on Go' vehicles launched

The 'Hygiene on Go' mobile sanitation vehicles are a CSR initiative of Renault Nissan Technology and Business Centre India Pvt Ltd (RNTBCI), implemented by Hand in Hand India (public charitable trust). "Such help will drive the police to work more. Even if there are no facilities, the policemen will work to protect us. This is an excellent initiative. I have personally seen how policemen suffer whenever they are posted on streets. I wish you would do more of these initiatives," the home minister said.

Engineer jumps on to Metro tracks, dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 38-year-old engineer died by suicide after jumping on to the tracks at the Kengeri Metro Station of the Purple Line around 8.15 am on Friday.

Metro services were immediately suspended and resumed only at 9.40 am, disrupting the commute of a large number of IT employees.

The victim was identified as Shantagoud Police Patil, residing in an apartment in Doddabele. He was a native of Devara Hippargi in Vijayapura district.

The victim's wife, Preethi, identified her husband's body at the RR Hosital's mortuary on the Mysuru Road, where it was taken after the suicide. In her police statement, Preethi said that her husband was mentally disturbed over a financial issue.

Preethi in her police statement said that both of them got married seven years back and since the last one year he was not having any work. Recently he joined a factory in Bidadi.

The police have also recorded the statements of the victim's brother, Prabhugoud Patil.

Mahalingu, parking incharge of the Kengeri Metro Station, told the media that the victim parked his two-wheeler in one of the two parking lots and went inside and the police were checking his vehicle after the incident.

Meanwhile, Metro services on the Purple Line were disrupted for over an hour after the incident. The incident affected a train headed towards Whitefield, and led to an immediate shutdown of operations between Mysuru Road and Challaghatta stations. Services were restored at 9.40 am, with trains running normally across the entire line thereafter.

Meanwhile, several passengers said that the disruption caused severe delays for morning commuters, including hundreds of IT employees. Many passengers were forced to take autorickshaws or cancel their journeys entirely due to the uncertainty.

The Kengeri police have registered a case.

Decomposed body of techie found at house

BENGALURU: The decomposed body of a 38-year-old software engineer was found at a house on Manjunatha Nagar on Friday. The deceased, Yuvaraj, was working in a MNC. The police suspect that the person must have died two week ago as neighbours had started sensing foul smell since then. As the smell was unbearable, the neighbours informed the building owner. Earlier, the neighbours presumed that the smell could be from a dead rat. Some of them started wearing mask due to the smell. Yuvaraj was working from home and is said to have been staying with his mother in the same locality for the last 15 years. He had no communication with any of his neighbours. He was hardly seen outside the house. The police are checking the details of his mother. They have informed his sister about the death. ENS

'Obscene' gesture: Plaint filed against Aryan Khan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A city-based advocate and a former convener of Bajrang Dal have filed police complaints seeking an FIR against Bollywood actor Shah Rukh Khan's son Aryan Khan for obscene gesture, public indecency, insulting modesty of women and disturbing public order.

Advocate S Owaiz Hussain of Sankey Road and Tejas A Gowda of Jayanagar 1st Block have filed the complaints.

In his complaint, Hussain stated that he is filing the complaint on behalf of the general public seeking immediate registration of an FIR against Aryan Khan for committing criminal acts in a public event/party hosted in a pub in Ashoknagar police limits on November 28. Aryan Khan was recorded making the abusive gesture towards members of the public at the venue. The video has gone viral, and has been widely reported by news agencies.

The incident has caused public outrage. Several women were present at the venue when he made the obscene gesture. His act amounts to a direct insult to the modesty of women, especially as the gesture is universally recognised as vulgar, indecent, humiliating and sexually suggestive in nature, the complaint stated.

Tejas Gowda, in his complaint, requested the police to take strict action against Aryan Khan. He also sought action against Mohammed Haris Nalapad, son of BDA chairman NA Haris, and Zaid Khan, son of Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan, who were with Aryan Khan at the pub.

Meanwhile, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said police officers are looking into the matter and action will be taken based on their findings.

ST JOHN'S HOSPITAL TURNS 50, DOCTORS HONOURED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ST JOHN'S Medical College Hospital marked its 50th anniversary on Friday with a Golden Jubilee event held at St John's National Academy of Health Sciences Auditorium.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy spoke about the institution's early development, noting that land for the hospital was acquired when the surrounding areas were still farmlands. He referred to the role of Christian missionary groups in setting up educational and health institutions. He remarked on St John's policy of not retaining management quota seats and handing them over to the government, saying this practice distinguishes it from other private colleges.

A Golden Jubilee souvenir was released. Doctors who completed more than 50 years of service at the institution were recognised, including Dr George D'Souza, Dean, St John's Medical College; Dr A Mohan, Department of Neurology; Dr Chandramouli KS, Department of General Medicine; Dr Vijay Joseph, Department of Plastic Surgery and Dr Ravindran GD, Department of Family Medicine. Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao; Rev. Fr Jesudoss Rajamanickam, Director, St John's Medical College Hospital; Most Rev. Putting an end to rumours about scrapping third round exams for SSLC and PU students, the Karnataka State Examination and Assessment Board clarified that the timetable for the third round has not been released. The department has released a timetable for the first and second round of exams for both SSLC and PU. Based on results in the first and second round of these exams, the department will decide on conducting a third round of exams, and the timetable will be released only after that

Centre must compensate states for GST rate cut: CM

Writes to PM, demands pan masala cess be shared equally between Centre and states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE recent GST rate cuts have caused a sharp drop in tax revenue for states, and the Centre should compensate states for losses and share the new pan masala cess equally, Chief Siddaramaiah wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Siddaramaiah said the GST rate changes approved in the 56th GST Council meeting have slowed down collections across the country. Citing an example, he said the gross GST collections in November 2025 fell by 2%, while they had grown by 9.3% in November last year. Between September and November 2025, GST grew only 3.3%, compared to 9% in the same period last year. Net domestic GST rose just 1.7%, much lower than last year's 8.9%, the CM wrote.

He added even the festival month of October did not improve revenues. If this trend continues, national GST collections could fall short by Rs 1.2 lakh crore this financial year.

The CM said Karnataka is also facing a serious revenue hit. Net GST growth from September to November was only 3.1%. The state expects a Rs 5,000 crore shortfall in the remaining months and a total loss of Rs 9,000 crore for the entire year due to the rate cuts.

Another Rs 9,500 crore loss is expected because the GST compensation cess has not been merged into the GST system. In total, Karnataka could lose up to Rs 18,500 crore this year. Siddaramaiah said the Centre, however, will remain revenue-positive because it still collects central excise duty on tobacco and has added a new cess on pan masala.

He opposed the idea of giving states a share of the pan masala cess through a health scheme, saying this limits state freedom. Instead, he demanded that the cess be shared equally between the Centre and states. The CM urged the Union government to fully compensate states for losses caused by the rate cuts, using 2024-25 as the base year and including cess collections. He said states had supported the rate cuts in the public interest and hoped the Centre would now protect state finances in the spirit of co-operative federalism.

Now, mutation application now via software only

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a decisive push to plug revenue leak, the revenue department has made it mandatory for all taluk-level Rapid Revenue Team staff to register every mutation application exclusively through the RRT mutation software with immediate effect.

The directive, issued late on Wednesday, effectively bans parallel manual entries or offline processing of mutation cases, a practice that has long been blamed for delays, discrepancies and alleged corruption in land record corrections.

To enforce the switchover without disrupting thousands of pending applications, the department has ordered compulsory one-day training for all officials concerned. Officials have been warned that absence "will be viewed very seriously".

The training is mandatory for assistant commissioners of sub-divisions, case workers and shirastedars of RRT branches at taluk and divisional levels and all RRT case workers in every taluk. There will also be a one hand-picked master trainer from each taluk, including newly created ones, personally selected by the respective deputy commissioner. Revenue sources told reporters that the training will focus on correct data entry, document verification protocols and speedy disposal of the massive backlog.

A pair of Great Indian Bustards in Ballari | VIJAY KUMAR PATTADAKAL

Spot a Great Indian Bustard, get incentive from forest dept

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @ Siruguppa (Ballari)

With the sighting of the Great Indian Bustard (GIB) becoming increasingly rare, the forest department is planning rewards to anyone who sights this critically endangered bird. Several years ago, the Uttara Kannada forest department had introduced incentives to create awareness and promote the protection of Olive Ridley turtles. Then, any person who found an Olive Ridley turtle nest was given Rs 1,000. The Ballari Forest Department is now contemplating a similar reward-based incentive for helping sight GIB. "We discussed it in the meeting and we are thinking about it. We will decide soon," said a senior forest official. Ballari Deputy Conservator of Forests Basavraj confirmed it, but refused to comment on it. The department has also introduced an app - GIMPs, which is an inventory, monitoring and patrolling application that is being tried as a pilot from Monday. "Our 12 watchers will use the app to record footprints, eggs, if any, egg shells, feathers and other aspects of GIB in protected areas. They will also record blackbucks, which thrive on grasslands like GIBs. The watchers will also look for the birds in nearby agriculture fields and also keep an eye on the cattle. If there are cattle, there will also be dogs to protect them. These dogs can be dangerous to GIBs," said Basavraj. "The app will later be put on Playstore, from where people can download it. If they see the bird or anything associated with it, they can take a picture and post it. This will ensure the status of the bird and its conservation," he added.

HC sets aside MBBS, BDS allotment list, tells KEA to redo third round

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday put an end to uncertainty over admission to around 900 remaining undergraduate medical and dental seats for the academic year 2025-26, setting aside the provisional allotment list of the third round of counselling for admission to MBBS and BDS courses published on October 24. The court directed Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) to take up the third round afresh, as per directions issued in the order.

Partly allowing a batch of petitions filed by Chandana M Chavan and 26 others, a three-judge bench of Justice BM Shyam Prasad, Justice MI Arun and Justice TM Nadaf directed KEA to publish the outcome of these writ petitions on its website and in two English/Kannada dailies.

The court said KEA should undertake the allotment process for an additional 443 seats for candidates who are permitted to participate, and this process should be based on options already entered, and allot additional seats which are not taken in the first stage and take steps for allotment of the consequential seats (377 seats).

The court made it clear the entire process should be completed by December 17.

3rd round of SSLC, PU exams not scrapped

Putting an end to rumours about scrapping third round exams for SSLC and PU students, the Karnataka State Examination and Assessment Board (KSEAB) released a clarification on Friday. "For now, the timetable for the third round has not been released. The department has released a timetable for the first and second round of exams for both SSLC and PU. Based on results in the first and second round of these exams, the department will decide on conducting a third round of exams, and the timetable will be released only after that."

Compensation delay: Court orders seizure of DC's car

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

THE Second Senior Civil and JMFC court has ordered the confiscation of the car of the Shivamogga deputy commissioner following the delay in sanctioning the compensation for the land acquired from the farmer. In 1992, Nandyappa a farmer of Haramaghatta gave away his one acre of land of survey number 101 towards Ashraya Yojane to the Gram Panchayat. But, he did not get any compensation.

When he approached the court, the order was to provide a compensation of Rs 22,60,000 to the farmer. The district administration had provided only Rs 9 lakh in the first phase. He had appealed to the then Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, including elected representatives and the office of the deputy commissioner. Again he approached the court struggling for many years to get compensation. The Second Senior Civil and JMFC Court, which took up the case in 2020, had ordered the district administration to provide Rs 95,88,283 as compensation. For the last five years, despite going to Vidhana Soudha, Zilla Panchayat and the office of the deputy commissioner for compensation, no money was received. In this context, Nandyappa had once again approached the court.

The court issued an order to confiscate the Deputy Commissioner's car number KA14 G1234. On Friday, while District Incharge Minister Madhu Bangarappa was holding a meeting, the court officials had visited the office of the DC to confiscate it.

DMK, BJP FACE OFF IN PARL

DMK leader Baalu accuses BJP of stoking communal tension in TN

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

EVEN as the Madurai bench of the Madras High Court on Friday said it would hear all appeals in the Thiruparankundram Karthigai Deepam case on December 12, the issue triggered an acrimonious exchange between BJP and DMK members in the Lok Sabha.

The ruckus began during the Zero Hour after senior DMK leader TR Baalu criticised the Madras HC judge, who had allowed petitioners to light the lamp on a stone pillar, 'Deepathoon', on the Thiruparankundram hill against the century-old custom followed by Tamil Nadu's Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Department.

The state government had defied the December 1 order of Justice GR Swaminathan and lit the lamp at the Uchipillaiyar temple on December 3, as is custom, apprehending communal tensions in the state. The Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear the state's appeal challenging the HC's order. Raising the issue in the Lok Sabha, Baalu accused the BJP of trying to 'ignite' communal tension in TN and claimed that the judge belongs to a particular ideology.

"Who should light the deepam on the hill? Whether the Hindu Religious Endowment Board representative or some miscreants who have got a judgment from a Madras HC judge?" he asked. Taking exception to Baalu's reference to the judge's ideology, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju said the DMK leader cannot cast aspersions on the judiciary and urged the chair to expunge the remarks.

"In the history of our Parliamentary democracy, we have upheld the discipline of avoiding disparaging remarks. We are not opposed to what he wants to express, but he cannot use unparliamentary language," said Rijiju. "This will lead to unnecessary trouble – not only for you, but for your party as well," he added.

Taking exception to Baalu's reference to the judge's ideology, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju said the DMK leader cannot cast aspersions on the judiciary and urged the chair to expunge the remarks.

CREATE 800 JOBS

Taiwanese companies to invest ₹1,000 cr in K'taka industrial park

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is set to receive a major boost to its electronics and semiconductor ambitions with Taiwan-based Allegiance Group signing an MoU to establish an India–Taiwan Industrial Technology Innovation Park (ITIP) in the state.

The project, involving an investment of Rs 1,000 crore, is expected to generate nearly 800 jobs over the next five years. The agreement was formalised between the Department of Electronics, IT, BT and S&T and The Allegiance International Company Limited of Taiwan in the presence of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge and others.

The ITIP will be developed as a dedicated hub for Taiwanese firms engaged in electronics manufacturing, semiconductors, research and development and advanced technology innovation. Officials said the park will strengthen Karnataka's position as India's leading Electronics System Design and Manufacturing hub while booting semiconductor ecosystem.

The project includes creating a strong supply chain for components, printed circuit boards and chip design, along with collaboration-based skill development programmes involving academic institutions.

Calling the tie-up a "significant step" towards realising states vision of becoming a global hub, the CM said that the park would bring cutting-edge manufacturing and fresh opportunities for local youth. Kharge said, "This partnership will accelerate our efforts to build a robust electronics and semiconductor ecosystem. We are committed to creating a level playing field and ensuring that Karnataka remains the preferred destination for global investors in advanced technologies."

Lokayukta officer burnt alive after car catches fire

Dharwad: Lokayukta police inspector Panchakshari Salimath was burnt alive in his car, near Annigeri, while returning to his residence in Murgod on Friday. Police sources said Panchakshari, who worked in Haveri, was driving home when the car suddenly caught fire. The officer was unable to jump out of the vehicle. Passersby tried their best to save the officer but failed. They claimed the car hit a divider, which damaged the fuel tank and a spark led to the fire. However, the exact cause will be known after a detailed probe . Annigeri police and other officers rushed to the spot. SP Gunjan Arya said it is known that the car caught fire and the officer was burnt alive. The deceased had served in Dharwad and Bailhongal. ENS

'Need to strengthen defence & aerospace unit'

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE defence and aerospace manufacturing corridor needs to be strengthened at the earliest. Presently, we are a nation of assemblers in the defence and aerospace corridor. There is a need to change this and make it a nation of manufacturers by strengthening indigenous manufacturing in a time-bound manner, said Dr VK Saraswat, Member, NITI Aayog, on Friday.

He said that manufacturing, not compromising on quality and quantity, needs to be enhanced. There is also a need to have better strategies to accelerate testing. The acquisition and merger polices and schemes also need to be better streamlined, he added. He was speaking at the inauguration of the two-day-long international conference on Advanced Design and Manufacturing of Aerospace Systems, organised by The Aeronautical Society of India in the City. Delegates from 10 countries are participating in the conference along with domain experts from the Indian Air Force, HAL, NAL, DRDO and the private sector. Saraswat said, "The biggest problem in India is adhering to timelines. The manufacturing sector needs to be more efficient and reliant in the defence, aerospace, global connectivity, planetary observations and other allied sectors."

He pointed out that there is a need to build engines for Advanced Medium Combat Aircraft and LCA Tejas without being affected or depending upon suppliers. He said, "Do not depend upon companies, but create your own. Collaborations should be done to make things easy. There is a shortage of skilled workforce, and balancing aerospace engineering is a major concern for the standards that need to be met. Adaptation and modernising technology are required for a robust economy," he said.

Also present on the occasion, former secretary, Department of Space and ISRO chairman Dr S Somanath said, indigenous manufacturing has become a major topic of discussion and a serious concern. "The supply chain capability is very constrained, and we continue to depend upon others in machinery, tools and manufacturing. In the domain of the advanced design sector, we are very slow, and thus there is a need to increase our in-house capability. The manufacturing sector in ISRO also needs to be strengthened," he added.

Somanath said, "The ecosystem here also needs to be improved. Ideas are there, but the execution needs to be scaled up. Bringing in technologies from other countries is challenging. Thus, strong recommendations should be made to the NITI Aayog to strengthen the defence and aerospace sector, he said.

Dr G Satheesh Reddy, Former Secretary DDR&D and Chairman, DRDO, said, there is a need to have clear, advanced, optimal designs. This is because if this is addressed, then optimum utilisation can be done. Development and works need to be intensified in the next 1-2years for India to become a superpower.

Kannadiga Christians seek fair church representation

Bengaluru: The All-Karnataka Catholic Christians Kannada Association has claimed that Konkani groups hold unilateral control over church administration across the state. The association president A Isaac said Kannada Christians are being sidelined, their language ignored and their clergy denied fair opportunities. Isaac said that Karnataka has 14 Christian religious regions, yet only the Chikmagalur diocese has a Kannadiga bishop. He alleged that Kannadiga priests are not being promoted because of the strong influence of coastal-origin voting groups within the church. He also alleged that both Bengaluru Archbishop Peter Machado and former Archbishop Bernard Moras have failed to address long-pending demands of Kannada Christians. Key church positions, commissions, administration, seminary training centres and major institutions are dominated by the coastal Konkani lobby, he said. This, he said, has left Kannada Christians suffering in their own state. The recent public remarks of Roy Castellino from Mangaluru have escalated tensions, with Isaac calling the comments insulting. He urged the Supreme Patriarch to implement the 3/1983 circular across Karnataka without delay. He demanded an end to what he called "coastal monopoly", and said just as local bishops lead churches in Tamil Nadu and Telangana, Karnataka too should prioritise Kannadiga clergy. Isaac said that worship in churches should prioritise Kannada, and that spiritual leaders must be selected from Kannada clergy. ENS

RBI UNLOCKS 'GOLDILOCKS' PHASE OF GROWTH, RUPEE NEW BALANCING CONCERN

AFTER a brief pause, the RBI on Friday resumed monetary easing, reducing the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.25 percent, the lowest in over three years. Analysts expected the central bank to hold fire amid robust growth in the July-September quarter, but the RBI reminded that monetary policy is rarely a rearguard action and more a forward march. As a rate change is transmitted with a lag, the reduction is perhaps a sign of anticipated subdued macroeconomic environment, at least in the first few months of 2026. Former Governor Raghuram Rajan noted that we can either have low rates or low inflation, not both. But that's exactly what's happening now. With the central bank keeping the door open for further cuts, the question is how much room does it have? The markets are factoring in 5-5.25 percent as the likely floor this fiscal, though it's likely to see sub-4 percent in 2026-27.

The RBI also announced ₹1 lakh crore of open market operations and $5 billion in forex swaps to smoothen liquidity and strengthen credit transmission. The dovish pivot is much-needed to support bond yields, which have been under pressure. Meanwhile, the central bank revised the 2025-26 real GDP growth estimate up to 7.3 percent from 6.8 percent projected earlier, besides trimming the inflation outlook to 2 percent from 2.6 percent. As Governor Sanjay Malhotra noted, the first half of this fiscal ended with an impressive 8 percent growth and 2.2 percent inflation. With sustained rural spending, urban demand rebound, and rising private investments, Malhotra decided to unlock a rare 'Goldilocks' phase to goose the economy.

One argument in favour of cuts was that the real rates are at a decadal high of over 5 percent. As an analyst pointed out, strong nominal GDP growth is essential because only when the nominal momentum improves, demand expands, pricing power stabilises, and companies deliver profits. Therefore, a nominal growth boost is needed to strengthen balance sheets, improve earnings, and reinforce India's broader growth cycle. Friday's rate cut nudges the economy in that direction, even though it failed to charm the currency markets. The rupee, which opened at 89.69 against the US dollar anticipating a status quo, appreciated to 90.07 soon after the announcement. So far this year, the rupee has fallen over 5 percent to emerge as Asia's worst-performing currency. After inflation, it's now one of RBI's major balancing concerns.

CONG FAILED TO FORESEE MAMKOOTATHIL RECKONING

THE Congress in Kerala has finally expelled its disgraced MLA, Rahul Mamkootathil—an action taken only after every other option had collapsed. The young legislator from Palakkad, now absconding, faces grave allegations of rape, sexual harassment, and other serious offences. That the party acted at all may look stern and decisive, but the truth is uncomfortable: this decision should have come the moment credible complaints surfaced, not at the tail end of a crisis.

What should have guided the Congress leadership is not electoral calculus, but the seriousness of the accusations and the repeated red flags raised by women in the party. Instead, the leadership allowed the matter to fester. By shielding Mamkootathil and allowing him to operate as usual—even after multiple allegations of sexual misconduct came to light—the party ended up signalling that political convenience mattered more than institutional integrity. That failure has now compounded the damage, giving rivals the space to craft narratives during an ongoing local body election season and possibly affecting the assembly polls due in four months.

The Congress has only itself to blame. For months, complaints—some informal, others detailed—were brushed aside. Even when the party suspended Mamkootathil in August, it did so reluctantly, insisting that no further action was possible without a formal complaint, even as a powerful faction continued to shield him. The MLA remained active in party events, and little changed for him or his patrons.

The reluctance persisted even after the police booked him for rape and forced abortion. A second woman's detailed complaint finally sharpened the internal demands for expulsion. Yet, the leadership waited until a Thiruvananthapuram court denied him anticipatory bail noting prima facie evidence of serious offences. To project moral high ground now is, therefore, unconvincing.

The Congress leadership in Kerala not only mishandled a grave matter of sexual misconduct, but also allowed political considerations to eclipse basic responsibility. In doing so, it has weakened its standing and handed its rivals an avoidable advantage. The reckoning was inevitable; the lack of foresight and firmness were not.

QUICK TAKE

THE OTHER GENOCIDE

WHILE the world's eyes are fixated elsewhere, a city in Africa is reporting piles of dead bodies on the streets. It's estimated that at least 60,000 people have been killed and another 1,50,000 are missing in El Fasher in Sudan's Northern Darfur province. The carnage is blamed on the Rapid Support Forces, a paramilitary force raised by the Sudanese government in 2013, which took the city six weeks ago. Experts believe El Fasher has now witnessed the worst war crimes in the ethnically-charged Sudanese civil war. The international community—especially the UAE and Saudi Arabia, which have worked with the RSF—must urgently open safe corridors through which humanitarian aid can reach the territory while peace talks are arranged.

Quality of life is slowly gaining global attention as a preferred target for healthcare systems. Once its metrics of measurement are widely accepted, resource allocation can be fairer

ADDING LIFE TO YEARS, NOT JUST YEARS TO LIFE

K SRINATH REDDY
Chancellor of the PHFI University of Public Health Sciences and Chair of the Centre for Universal Health Coverage at the Indian School of Public Policy

LIFE expectancy has been increasing globally over the last century due to a combination of improved social conditions and rapid scientific advances. The former improved sanitation, nutrition, education, and economic security, while providing safer dwellings, transport and lowering crime. The latter provided a deeper understanding of the human body's structure and functions, identified causal agents and mechanistic pathways of disease, and accelerated the development of medical technologies like vaccines, drugs, and devices. The spurt in knowledge creation and translation greatly amplified our ability to protect ourselves against a variety of disorders through prevention or cure.

While increased life expectancy (LE) has been a cause for celebration, preoccupation with lengthening human life has made us less attentive to the quality of life, functionality, and wellbeing across the life course. The gap between LE and healthy life expectancy (HLE) has been around 10 years in India over the past three decades. A similar pattern is seen in many other countries. Sadly, the gap between LE and HLE is wider among women than men. Women's biological advantage of longer LE is dissipated by adverse social conditions and neglect by the health system.

Lack of attention to quality of life, encompassing functionality and wellbeing, has been due to difficulty in arriving at globally acceptable definitions and finding widely-accepted quantifiable measures. Economists and social scientists to public health researchers and policymakers have been challenged by disagreements in defining and measuring the 'soft' attributes of health. They are far more comfortable with measuring death as an easily identifiable end point and estimating the years of life saved by an intervention.

It is often said that 'what gets measured gets done'. What is left unsaid is that 'what is easy to measure gets measured often'. That metric then gets embedded in policy for determining resource allocation for health programmes and becomes the acid test for their monitoring and evaluation. The cycle perpetuates itself in health policies, with 'how many lives will be saved' being the only question asked, while the question 'how many lives will be improved' by an intervention seldom guides resource allocation.

Attempts have been made to incorporate preserved quality of a healthy life, or its converse—'disability' associated with disease or injury—into health metrics. Disability-adjusted life years (DALY) is a summative measure of the years of life lost due to premature mortality from a health disorder, as compared to the life expectancy of a 'standard' population, and years lived with disability caused by that disorder.

SOURAV ROY

To ensure comparability across health conditions, the degree of disability is graded for each condition. Weights attached for grading the severity of disability are generated from expert assignments and opinion surveys conducted in a general population. Views of persons with lived experience of the specific disorder were not ascertained because of an apprehension of biased estimates. As one critic of this method commented, "Imagine only men grading the severity of labour pain!"

Quality-adjusted life year is another measure. It estimates the number of life years affected by disease or injury related decrement in the desired quality of life (QOL). A number of research instruments emerged for measuring such perceived reduction in quality. They have not always been reproducible across populations. There is a need for an instrument which retains elements of objectivity and cross-population comparability while being context-relevant, culturally adaptive and respectful of equity across population groups.

Over the past three decades, DALY has emerged as the most widely adopted measure of loss in health status. While disability (reduction in QOL) was incorporated into DALY, years of life lost still dominated over years lived with disability in most disorders. Mental health disorders were a notable exception where distress outweighed death. Even then, these disorders were not included when the UN convened a high-level meeting in 2011 to adopt a political declaration on the urgency of actions needed to prevent and control the rapidly escalating global threat of non-communicable diseases.

Neglect of QOL has been prejudicial to the allocation of health system resources to several other health conditions. Persons with physical disabilities are deprived of opportunities to lead socially engaged, economically productive, and emotionally satisfying lives if the health and social systems do not provide the needed support and opportunities. Many non-fatal disorders of childhood get neglected despite being correctable, with avoidable limitations to physical, psychological, and social functions. Sensory loss (vision and hearing impairment) gets delayed recognition despite the tremendous value of timely correction.

With growth in life expectancy, population ageing has brought fresh attention to QOL. The goal of 'healthy ageing' is to ensure that the elderly stay fit and functional rather than becoming frail and feeble. The elderly need not be limited in function if the health system pays attention to their physical and psychological needs, ensuring responsive health and care services.

A positive intent to promote functionality and enhance the quality of life rather than a restricting ambition to reduce manifest or anticipated disability is now moving to many health domains—such as support for persons with physical or mental disorders, survivors of cancer or strokes, or persons with sensory impairment. Climate change and conflict are generating a host of non-fatal challenges to physical and mental health, besides loss of lives. Even the pandemic has left a trail of suffering, casting the dark shadow of 'long Covid' on many survivors.

The World Health Organization is now energising efforts to preserve and promote 'functionality'. This is an umbrella term for all body functions, activities, and participation in society. It encompasses physical, mental, and social dimensions of the unimpeded ability to perform daily tasks. Both intrinsic physical attributes of health and extrinsic socio-environmental factors interact to determine the attribute of 'functional ability'.

Health and social systems must espouse efforts to improve the functionality and wellbeing of those who are alive despite health disorders. Extending years of life is a laudable objective, but that should not detract us from aiming for a good quality of life, too.

BLACK FRIDAY IN RAINBOW INDIA

MADHAVAN NARAYANAN
Senior journalist

REVERSE SWING

WHAT is Black Friday doing in India, I asked myself when I saw a spate of online promotions and colourful ads promising discounts galore. Having grown up with the usual Diwali and Christmas sales, I had never heard of Black Friday until the internet happened, bringing with it an overdose of American habits, customs and, of course, strange-sounding words that have now become common in India.

We cannot blame this one on British colonial rule. But leftists and ultra-nationalists may ascribe the surge in the Black Friday phenomenon to cultural imperialism. Still, a careful look may tell you there is more to it than a culture imposed on Indians.

It's undeniable that burgers and colas are a part of the Americanisation of global culture, often serving as symbols of being 'with it' in certain circles. Some extreme forms of this can be found in elite enclaves like SoBo (South Mumbai) and the Gram (Gurugram).

Parents of kids marked for higher education in the US are happy to see their wards acclimatising in advance with Halloween parties that entail trick-or-treats and outré costumes. They are probably not aware that Bengalis have had their own celebration of ghosts and ghouls on the Bhoot Chaturdashi that falls close to the Kali Puja (Diwali), much the same way that the American festival falls close to the old Christian All Saints' Day and borrows heavily from the Day of the Dead in Aztec Mexico.

To Bharat's cultural puritans who would prefer a renaissance of Bhoot Chaturdashi, the latter-day desi might well respond with an Indianism: "We are like this only," which translates in propah Angrezi as "that's the way we are". A recent viral video has an Indian TV anchor celebrating Indian English, pointing to the inclusion of words like 'prepone' in the global lexicon.

We Indians also tend to embrace some habits out of curiosity and a perpetual desire to celebrate. But much like Americans, there is an element of commerce and ad-mixing of habits that blurs their origins. What we see is a reverse swing of language, culture, and dressing styles.

Indo-Western is a sartorial style that has aged well. You can match a mirror-work kurti with torn jeans and earn global sighs of appreciation. British designer Zandra Rhodes took the sari to Western fashion shows way back in the 1980s. Today, saris in India have sprouted pockets and zippers. The adaptations remind me of a collegial one-liner: "The pizza is just a paratha that went abroad for higher studies."

Like the pizza, which has its origins in Italy's Naples but became quintessentially American over decades, Black Friday has its origins in the Thanksgiving dinner, which marks a 17th-century harvest feast between European settlers and the native Wampanoag people. What's left unsaid is that it was followed by centuries of killings, land theft, and disease thrust upon indigenous Americans.

X.COM

The flow of culture and goods between India and the world has been a two-way street for millennia. Long before we adopted Black Friday and Halloween, Shailendra wrote about the globally-eclectic Indian vagabond. But let's please draw a line at Schezwan dosa

Meanwhile, the harvest festivals of Pongal in Tamil Nadu and Baisakhi in Punjab do not bring pan-India mega sales the way Black Friday does. Originally used to describe the chaotic Philadelphia crowds ahead of the Thanksgiving weekend, the term 'Black Friday' now marks the day marketers turn from red to black as holiday shoppers fall for their discounts.

Nothing stops Indians from giving their own colourful brush-strokes. East-West cultural appropriations are again on a two-way street after a post-colonial blip. Pizzas have been offered with paneer or tandoori toppings for a long time; they now come with pav-bhaji flavour too, I am told. The aloo-tikki burger has travelled abroad, whereas the 'kulhad pizza' is yet to make the trip.

As a true-blue Tamilian, I will refrain from complimenting the abomination called Schezwan dosa; though, as a liberal, I respect the right of the culinarily-misguided to eat as they please.

However, Indian Chinese has been a distinctive cuisine for decades. Manchurian, with any filling, has nothing to do with Manchuria. It's part of the Tangra Chinese cuisine, named after the old Chinatown in east Kolkata, that is now served as far as New York.

Not every cultural leap can be blamed on colonialism. Korean restaurants are found near several university mohallas around India. Thanks to K-pop and K-soaps, even Korean desserts have their own little niche. Mind you, those patronising such exotic food today are no longer elites, but middle-class kids accustomed to a global outlook in a world radically shrunk by social media.

Let it not be said that we are culturally steamrolled. After all, the Rig Veda guides us: "Let noble thoughts come from all sides" (Aa no bhadra kratavo yantu vishwatah). Two-way trade—in thoughts, culture, and goods—between India and the world has flowed for millennia. A new cohort of popular history writers are busy helping new generations of Indians rediscover their roots through those routes.

This eclectic Indian spirit is what made Bollywood lyricist Shailendra craft his magical words for Raj Kapoor in Shree 420 (1955): "Mera joota hai Japani, yeh patloon Inglistani, sar pe lal topi Russi, phir bhi dil hai Hindustani" (My shoes are Japanese, my trousers English, the red hat on top is Russian, but my heart is still Indian).

● Both agree to encourage joint manufacturing of spare parts in India for Russian weapons ● Modi says free trade agreement with Eurasian Economic Union soon

India, Russia to expand ties, national currency settlements

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA and Russia have agreed to deepen defence collaboration and develop systems for bilateral trade settlements using national currencies, according to a joint statement following talks between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Vladimir Putin.

The statement said the partnership is being reoriented to support India's push for self-reliance through "joint research and development, co-development and co-production of advanced defence technology and systems."

Both sides also agreed to encourage joint manufacturing in India of spare parts, components, aggregates and other products for maintenance of Russian origin arms and defence equipment under Make-in-India program through transfer of technology and setting up of joint ventures for meeting the needs of the Indian Armed Forces as well as subsequent export to mutually friendly third countries. The two countries agreed to continue developing mechanisms for trade settlements in their respective currencies to ensure uninterrupted maintenance of bilateral trade. Consultations will continue on interoperability of national payment systems, financial messaging platforms, and central bank digital currencies.

"Russia and India have agreed to continue jointly developing systems of bilateral settlements through use of the national currencies in order to ensure the uninterrupted maintenance of bilateral trade," the joint statement said.

On the nuclear front, India and Russia plan to finalise a second nuclear power plant site in India and accelerate technical and commercial discussions on VVER reactors of Russian design. The agreement includes joint research, localisation, and manufacturing of nuclear equipment and fuel assemblies for Russian-designed large-capacity plants. Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri emphasised India's energy approach amid mounting pressure from Washington to curb Russian energy exports. "We have been fairly clear, as a significant importer of energy, 1.4 billion Indians have energy needs secured... Indian companies, private and public, make decisions based on evolving market dynamics." India and Russia also stressed the importance of resolving the Iran nuclear issue through "dialogue".

The two leaders also expressed concern over the humanitarian situation in Gaza and strongly "stressed the importance for all parties concerned to remain committed to agreements and understandings reached between them for cessation of conflict, humanitarian assistance and a sustainable peace." Both sides "noted with appreciation the close coordination between India and Russia on Afghanistan, including through the dialogue mechanism between the Security Councils of both countries."

Issue of Indians in Russian army raised with Prez

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said India is actively working to secure the release of its citizens who have joined the Russian armed forces through fraudulent means. Misri said that PM Narendra Modi raised the issue with President Putin. "Our concerted efforts continue on a regular basis to secure the early release of Indian citizens from the Russian Army," Misri said. He emphasised that the recruitment of Indian citizens into Russian forces was specifically discussed during the talks. Misri also cautioned Indian nationals against joining the Russian military, citing cases of stranded individuals .

Moscow to boost India sourcing, tariff & regulatory hurdles to ease

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

RUSSIAN President Vladimir V Putin confirmed that, to narrow the massive trade deficit with India, Russian businesses will ramp up the supply of Indian goods, and both governments have agreed to work on reducing challenges created by tariff and non-tariff barriers. Meeting in New Delhi on Friday at the 23rd India-Russia Summit, the two countries, along with several delegates from both sides, set an ambitious goal of reaching $100 billion in trade by 2030, or earlier.

"Given the significant trade deficit of Russia, Russian businesses and companies are ready to manifold increase the supply from India of goods and services," said Putin during his address at the summit.

India has repeatedly run into non-tariff hurdles—whether related to certification, payments, or billing—when exporting to Russia. Over the past five years, Russia's exports to India have expanded nearly twelvefold, while Indian exports to Russia have risen by only about 84% in the same period. As a result, India's trade deficit with Russia has grown almost twenty times, reaching nearly $60 billion in FY 2024-25.

To strengthen economic ties, the Russian President assured that, "It will only be logical if our approach can integrate a greater supply of Indian products to Russia."

Prime Minister Narendra Modi echoed the same view, noting that Indian exporters are ready to send high-quality Indian marine and dairy products to Russia. He also expressed optimism that India and Russia could meet their trade target sooner than planned. Modi reaffirmed that both sides are actively working toward an early conclusion of the Free Trade Agreement with the Eurasian Economic Union.

The two countries also plan to begin work on several transportation projects, including one using the Northern Sea Route. Modi said the route "will help in reducing the transit time and do better cost cutting, and more markets will open for the businesses." He also pushed for a virtual trade corridor to speed up customs clearance, reduce paperwork, and make cargo movement more seamless.

At the Russia-India Business Summit, Maxim Oreshkin, Deputy Chief of Staff of the Presidential Executive Office of the Russian Federation, identified six areas where Indian exports can significantly grow: consumer goods, food and agricultural products, generic medicines and pharmaceuticals, telecom equipment, labour services, and machine parts.

At Putin dinner, Tharoor in but Rahul and Kharge out

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

POLITICAL tempers ran high on Friday after Congress MP Shashi Tharoor appeared on the guest list for the state dinner hosted for Russian President Vladimir Putin, even as Leaders of the Opposition in both Houses — Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge — were conspicuously left out.

The controversy erupted just a day after Rahul Gandhi accused the Modi government of "breaking tradition" and not allowing foreign dignitaries to meet the LoP out of "insecurity". A furious Congress hit back at the government, calling the move deliberate. The party also criticised Tharoor for accepting the invitation, saying he "should have listened to his conscience". Congress general secretary (communications) Jairam Ramesh said, "The two LoPs have not been invited."

Pawan Khera, who heads the Congress media and publicity department, accused the government of "breaking protocols daily" and showing little respect for democratic norms.

"There is no invite to both the LoPs. This is surprising, but perhaps not unexpected. This government is known to breach all protocols. What else can one say?" he told reporters.

Aiming his criticism at Tharoor, Khera added, "All of us in the party, if our leaders don't get invited and we do, we need to question our own conscience. Politics has clearly been played in inviting or not inviting people, which is questionable, and those who accept such an invite are also questionable."

Tharoor confirmed he would attend, saying the external affairs committee chair had traditionally been invited in the past. On the exclusion of the LoPs, he said he did not know the criteria.

Rahul slams 'monopoly model' for IndiGo fiasco

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday alleged that the IndiGo "fiasco" is the cost of this government's "monopoly model" and asserted that India deserves fair competition in every sector, not match-fixing monopolies.

In the wake of IndiGo cancelling over 550 flights on Thursday alone and 400 flights on Friday, disrupting the travel plans of hundreds of passengers, Gandhi said it is ordinary Indians who pay the price in delays, cancellations and helplessness.

"IndiGo fiasco is the cost of this Govt's monopoly model. Once again, it's ordinary Indians who pay the price - in delays, cancellations and helplessness," the Leader of Opposition said in a post on X. "India deserves fair competition in every sector, not match-fixing monopolies," Gandhi asserted.

IndiGo, on Thursday, told aviation watchdog DGCA that operations are expected to be fully stabilised by February 10, 2026, and sought temporary relaxations in flight duty norms on a day when the country's largest airline cancelled more than 550 flights, disrupting the travel plans of hundreds of passengers. Slamming the government, Congress general secretary (organisation) K C Venugopal said the Modi government has reduced a once-competitive industry to two players, prioritising corporate greed over passengers' interests. Taking to X, he wrote, "550+ IndiGo flights cancelled in a single day is a clear consequence of the Government sleeping at the wheel while a duopoly established a deadly chokehold on India's aviation sector. Lakhs of passengers are left helpless at airports for over 8 hours, only to be told their flights are cancelled. What is the mechanism that @MoCA_GoI has set up to ensure passengers get full refunds for these cancelled flights? How are they ensuring Indigo is looking after passengers' well-being?"

The Congress leader further said from the collapse of Jet Airways and Go First to Air India's monopoly merger - every move that has contributed to this disastrous outcome has happened under their watch.

"As a result, ordinary passengers in need of urgent travel can no longer afford plane tickets, a situation of zero accountability for either the airlines or the @MoCA_GoI, and now a nationwide shutdown of flights. This is not a routine operational hiccup, it is a Government-approved systemic failure that will happen again and again unless drastic measures are undertaken immediately," said Venugopal.

Calling the IndiGo situation a national crisis, Congress MP Karti P Chidambaram said that the government should make a statement on the floor of Parliament explaining what has led to this crisis and what the government is doing to solve it, as it affects passengers countrywide.

IndiGo fiasco is the cost of this govt's monopoly model. Once again, it's ordinary Indians who pay the price — in delays, cancellations and helplessness

'Fertiliser firms doing fine amid China blockade'

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

AMID reports of China withholding exports of specialty fertilisers to India over the past few months, domestic companies have turned to alternative suppliers in Belgium, Egypt, Germany, Morocco and the United States to bridge the supply gap, the Government informed the Lok Sabha on Friday.

In a written reply, Minister of State for Fertilisers Anupriya Patel clarified that specialty fertilisers fall outside the Nutrient Based Subsidy (NBS) scheme overseen by the Department of Fertilisers, and are thus unsubsidised.

Patel also highlighted ongoing efforts by Indian research bodies to foster self-reliance in nutrient management. Institutions such as ICAR and State Agricultural Universities are developing indigenous alternatives, including zinc EDTA, boron blends, nano-fertilisers and bio-fertilisers.

Temple money can't be used to help bank: SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday said that money belonging to a temple deity cannot be used to enrich and ensure survival of financially distressed cooperative banks.

A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi made the observations while hearing appeals filed by a few cooperative bankschallenging a direction of the Kerala High Court asking them to return the deposits to the Thirunelly Temple Devaswom.

"You want to use the temple money to save the bank? What is wrong with directing that the temple money, instead of being in a cooperative bank which is breathing with great difficulty, should go to a healthy nationalised bank which can give maximum interest," the CJI asked. "Temple money belongs to the deity and hence, the money has to be saved, protected and utilised only for the interests of the temple and it cannot become a source of income or survival for a cooperative bank," he said.

The appeals were filed by Manathnawady Co-operative Urban Society Ltd and Thirunelly Service Cooperative Bank Ltd, challenging the judgment passed by the HC's division bench in August.

During the course of the hearing, the bench asked what was wrong with the HC's direction. To this, advocate Manu Krishnan, the counsel for the petitioners, replied to the court that the "abrupt" direction issued by the HC to return the deposits within two months was causing difficulties. But the top court was not inclined to grant any relief to these cooperative banks and rejected their appeals.

"You (banks) should establish your credibility among the people. If you are unable to attract customers and deposits, that is your problem," the CJI pointed out. The bench granted liberty to the petitioners to approach the high court seeking an extension of time to comply with the impugned order.

The Thirunelly Devaswom had earlier approached the HC aggrieved by the refusal of the co-operative banks to repay the fixed deposits in spite of repeated requests.

When Justice Bagchi said that the banks were supposed to immediately release the amounts when the deposits matured, the lawyer appearing for the banks replied that there was no request made by any for closure and clarified that there was no complaint by the customer. "We have been providing them services as per their needs. We have also started a special branch on their premises as per request.

They have been consistently renewing the FDs..." the counsel submitted.

'Arundhati Roy did not promote smoking'

The Supreme Court on Friday dismissed a plea seeking to prohibit the sale, circulation, and display of Arundhati Roy's book, 'Mother Mary Comes to Me', as its cover depicted her smoking a cigarette. A bench comprising CJI Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi dismissed the plea saying that no law has been violated.

Curb plea against AI in judiciary rejected

The Supreme Court on Friday refused to entertain a PIL seeking to curb the 'unregulated' use of AI and machine learning in the judicial system. The top court said it was aware of the ill effects of AI tools in the judiciary, but these issues can be appropriately addressed by it on the administrative side.

Unesco heritage list may showcase Diwali after Durga Puja, Kumbh Mela

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

DIWALI is likely to be included in the prestigious Unesco's intangible cultural heritage list of humanity during the 22nd session of the Intergovernmental Committee for the Safeguarding of the Intangible Cultural Heritage (ICH) starting on December 8 in Delhi.

After the examination of its nomination, the announcement is expected on December 10. There are already 15 elements from India on the list including Durga Puja, Garba, Kumbh Mela and Yoga (2016).

For the first time, India will be hosting this Committee session, providing a platform to showcase the country's intangible cultural heritage and community-based safeguarding initiatives. The six-day event will take place on the campus of the 17th century Mughal era fort place—Red Fort.

The core issues to be taken up during the meeting are assessment of safeguarding reports submitted by States about existing listed elements, requests for international assistance to support safeguarding of ICH and reporting and future planning for safeguarding of ICH.

It will also discuss "living heritage safeguarding," best practices, and innovative safeguarding methodologies. Over 1,000 delegates from more than 180 countries, including Committee Members, UNESCO officials, experts, accredited NGOs and practitioners are likely to participate in this event.

Hosting the meeting provides several strategic and diplomatic advantages for India and strengthens its collaboration with UNESCO, said Union Minister for Culture and Tourism Gajendra Singh Shekhawat.

"The meeting will help the country by increasing its global influence and cultural diplomacy and soft power, providing a platform to showcase its diverse heritage, strengthening international cooperation on cultural preservation and inspiring younger generations to connect with their cultural identity," said the minister.

Safeguarding requests, planning to be taken up

The core issues to be taken up during the meeting are assessment of safeguarding reports submitted by states about existing listed elements, requests for international assistance to support safeguarding of ICH, and future planning for the same.

CAG says companies got subsidy despite violating lease terms ● Probe ordered as law puts curbs on land acquisition by outsiders

Godowns galore but no tech firms in MP IT parks

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

AN audit by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG) has uncovered alleged misuse of land leased in the IT Parks of Bhopal and Jabalpur. These plots, meant for information technology and allied firms, were found to house a nursing college, a medicine storehouse, and units manufacturing electric equipment and water-pump starters.

The audit, carried out in June 2023 across IT Parks in Bhopal, Indore and Jabalpur, showed that 11 out of 20 completed units were engaged in activities inconsistent with those mentioned in their lease deeds. The findings relate to the Shivraj Singh Chouhan period.

According to the CAG report tabled in the Madhya Pradesh Vidhan Sabha on Thursday, the MP State Electronic Development Corporation Limited (MPSEDC), the agency responsible for developing and promoting IT Parks, didn't act against the lessees/firms. Instead, it supported the 11 firms by paying them ₹3.96 crore as land subsidy and ₹61.44 lakh as other incentives/subsidies.

One firm that received 0.87 acres in the Jabalpur IT Park in June 2017 for running a BPO-Call Centre, IT Training Centre, and Data Processing Centre, was operating a nursing college, even though MPSEDC had paid a subsidy of ₹53.36 lakh to the firm. Another firm allotted land to manufacture electronic equipment, and software was using its building to store medicines, after already receiving ₹15.78 lakh land subsidy.

In Bhopal, a firm that was allotted two acres in May 2018 for manufacturing LED lights and electronic products was only assembling components, not manufacturing them. It had been paid a subsidy of ₹165.4 lakh.

The audit also noted severe underperformance: 101 firms allotted 123 plots and expected to create 6,536 jobs by 2023, but had created only 96 jobs. Construction hadn't even started in 84 cases. Four firms recorded as functional were actually locked. Additionally, 13.57 acres in Bhopal and Indore IT Parks were encroached.

Row over land purchase by J&K man in U'khand

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

A controversy has erupted in Uttarakhand after a Jammu and Kashmir resident bought 10 bighas of land — about 9,000 square yards — in the sensitive Kalsi area of Dehradun, putting the state government under sharp scrutiny over its tight restrictions on land ownership by non-residents.

The deal, reportedly carried out on March 16, 2022, when the Assembly election Model Code of Conduct was in force, has stoked fresh anger among the opposition. It comes even as Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami often voices concerns over what he calls "demographic change" in the state.

Revenue Department sources confirm that under the Uttarakhand Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act, 1950, people from outside Uttarakhand are normally allowed to buy only 250 square metres of land. The Kalsi region, a tribal and strategically sensitive belt, is considered even more protected.

This plot of land is valued at over ₹32 lakh per bigha under the current government rates. The buyer — Ghulam Haider, a resident of Jammu and Kashmir and a former police official — acquiring such a large plot in a restricted zone has raised serious questions about whether norms were bypassed.

The issue surfaced after Sanjay Khan, a local resident, filed a complaint with the Dehradun administration. Khan alleged that Haider, who had purchased the land from Safdar Ali, was attempting to claim ownership of the property. He later submitted what he described as evidence: a video allegedly sent from Pakistan, in which a man named Abdullah claimed the land belonged to his grandfather and was donated to the Waqf Board. Khan has dismissed the claim outright, calling it a conspiracy "orchestrated by Haider".

With the case now before the Nainital High Court, questions are mounting. Opposition groups and local organisations have demanded immediate answers. Bobby Panwar, President of the Uttarakhand Swabhiman Morcha, said, "This is an extremely serious matter. It is impossible without collusion from government machinery. An investigation must clarify why a person from JK is acquiring such a large tract of land here and what his true intentions are." The Congress has also taken aim at the government, accusing it of failing to enforce its own rules.

The CM's Office has confirmed that a probe has been ordered. "We have directed the District Magistrate of Dehradun to immediately investigate this matter and take necessary action," a CMO source said. Officials say all angles are being examined to determine how the alleged illegal procurement happened and whether land safeguards were ignored.

NOT THE NORM

2. This plot of land is valued at over ₹32 lakh per bigha under the govt rates

Dialogues on timeless journey at literary fest

Chhattisgarh will host a three-day 'Raipur Literature Festival' from January 23 next year, which will provide a forum for enlightened dialogues on subjects of literary interest. The festival's official logo, "Aadi se Anaadi tak", signifies the timeless journey of literature — a continuum from ancient compositions to ever-evolving modern narratives. More than 100 litterateurs and writers from across the country will cherish cultural, intellectual and traditional blends of Indian literature at the festival to be organised at Nava Raipur. The festival will also see vibrant discussions on regional and national issues besides the state's dialects.

Nand Ghar redefines Anganwadi ecosystem

Nand Ghar, a project by the mining group Vedanta to modernise the Anganwadi ecosystem in rural areas, marks 50 years of its functioning. These modernised childcare centres have empowered women and children through improved nutrition, early education and healthcare aligned with the Centre's Integrated Child Development Scheme. Each of the 262 Nand Ghars, set up in Chhattisgarh under the social impact initiative, is equipped with smart classrooms and digital learning tools and provides nutritional meals, and inclusive spaces for children of 3-6 years. There are over 10,000 Nand Ghar centres across 16 states with over 4 lakh children enrolled.

50% power discount raised to 200 units

The Cabinet has decided to provide 50% discount on electricity bills up to 200 units from December 1, expecting that around 42 lakh of the existing 45 lakh consumers will get the benefit. The move came realising the discontent among people after the state government reduced 50% discount from 400 to 100 units in August. The new decision will be implemented under Mukhyamantri Urja Rahat Jan Abhiyan scheme. The Congress took credit for forcing the government to increase discount on power bills. The party has said it will press for 50% on power bills up to 400 units. The Sai Deo government encourages people to install solar power systems.

Dhanbad admin probe into BCCL mine gas leak

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A day after two women died after suspected toxic gas leak in the Putki Balihari Colliery Area of Bharat Coking Coal Limited, the Dhanbad DC on Friday ordered a detailed inquiry into the incident.

He also directed officials to immediately relocate the residents living in the affected zones to safer locations.

Notably, at least two women were killed while several others complained of nausea and headache due to leakage of toxic carbon monoxide gas near Children's Park in Dhanbad's Kenduadih, affected by underground fire for over a century.

Taking note of the gravity of the situation, the DC convened an emergency review meeting with senior representatives of BCCL, the Directorate General of Mines Safety (DGMS), the Health Department, Disaster Management and JRDA.

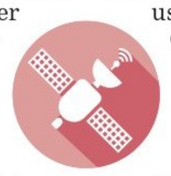
During the meeting, the DC formed a committee to determine how the leak occurred, what gaps existed in safety protocols and which agencies failed to respond effectively.

The investigation will be examining each incident in detail and determine whose negligence led to the loss of life.

3rd launchpad to be ready by Dec 2026: ISRO chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ISRO Chairman V Narayanan on Friday said that the third launchpad at Kulasekarapattinam in Tamil Nadu will be ready for launching satellites from December 2026. Currently, the goal is to launch at least 50 rockets within the next five years. By 2040, India will be on par with any developed country in the space sector, he said, adding that currently, 57 Indian spacecraft are orbiting, which will increase to 150 over the next 2-3 years. Narayanan was speaking at the inauguration of the 4th edition of the Tamil Book Festival in Bengaluru.



Narayanan said that the training of Gaganayatris for space missions is on. "Learning and training are a continuous process, and it will continue," he said.

"We have received the prime minister's approval for the Chandrayaan-4 mission, and we are ready for the first unmanned space mission. Dates from the PM are awaited," he added. The ISRO Chairman was also confirmed with the title 'Rocket Man of India' by the members of the Tamil association.

On Russian President Vladimir Putin's visit to India and the partnerships between the two countries in the space sector, Narayanan said, "I have also heard the news. Once things are confirmed, I will comment. I am yet to gather all the information."

Asserting that India cannot be compared to other countries like the USA, Russia, China, or others, he said when ISRO was formed in 1969, the US' Neil Armstrong had landed on the moon and returned. Indian satellites and technology are being used in over 50 areas, including defense, safety and security, communication, broadcasting, disaster warnings, and many others, he said.

"India is No. 1 in 10 space sector missions, including finding water on the Moon, deploying the best camera in the Moon's orbit, the Mars mission, being the first to reach the lunar south pole, and the indigenous development of three cryogenic engines. We will be on par with other countries soon in rocket launches, space applications, technological advancement, and humans in space. Technologies are being developed at a cheaper cost, not compromising on the safety of the missions and the astronauts," he said.

Train to LoC: Rlys completes survey on Baramulla-Uri line

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a step towards extending Kashmir's rail connectivity up to the border town of Uri, close to the Line of Control (LoC), the Railways has completed the survey for 46-km Baramulla–Uri rail link and prepared a detailed project report (DPR) for the project having strategic importance. The construction of a railway line between Baramulla and Uri will provide all-weather rail connectivity to the border district even during harsh winter. At present, Baramulla is the last railway station in north Kashmir.

While responding to a question by BJP MP Sat Pal Sharma, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw informed the Rajya Sabha about the survey of a new Baramulla-Uri line and DPR. He also said that the survey on doubling of 118-km Banihal-Baramulla rail line has also been completed and DPR prepared.

"After preparation of DPR, sanctioning of a project requires consultation with stakeholders, including state governments, and necessary approvals from NITI Aayog and finance ministry. Exact timelines of projects depend upon appraisals and approvals by stakeholders," Vaishnaw said. The proposed Baramulla-Uri railway line will include three road under-bridges (RUBs) and nine road over-bridges (ROBs) and will be developed as a new single broad-gauge line, requiring fresh land acquisition, he said. Uri town was in the line of fire of Pakistani troops during the Operation Sindoor launched by the Indian military after the Pahalgam terror attack.

The new Baramulla-Uri railway line will pass through key locations like Baramulla, Sheeri, Gantmulla, Boniyar, Limber, Nougram, and Lagama. The railway line to Uri holds strategic importance as Baramulla and Uri house major Army establishments and lie close to the border. Trains to Uri will help in mobility of troops deployed at the LoC and other forward areas of Kashmir.

The railway line to Uri will also help trade and business in the border area as traders' goods will reach Delhi within 24 hours instead of 10 days now. "It will prove to be a game changer for traders, especially fruit growers," a local businessman said. In June, the 272-km Udhampur-Srinagar-Baramulla rail link was commissioned.

BOOST FOR TRADE & TROOP MOBILITY

Railways has completed the survey & prepared DPR for 46 KM BARAMULLA–URI RAIL LINK, a project of major strategic importance near the LoC in north Kashmir

The new line will provide all-weather, reliable connectivity to Uri, which faces isolation during harsh winters; Baramulla is the last existing station in north Kashmir

Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said the Baramulla–Uri survey and the 118-km Banihal–Baramulla doubling survey are both completed

He clarified that project sanction requires consultations and approvals from state governments, NITI Aayog and the Finance Ministry

In a 1st, desilting of Bhakra Dam to take place

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FOR the first time since the Bhakra Dam was dedicated to the nation in 1963, a desilting operation will be carried out at the Gobind Sagar reservoir. Over the decades, heavy sedimentation has reduced the reservoir's storage capacity by nearly 25 per cent.

To oversee the entire process, the Union Jal Shakti Ministry has set up a 10-member committee. The move comes after the Himachal Pradesh government gave in-principle approval to the Bhakra Beas Management Board's (BBMB) proposal to begin desilting the Sutlej River at Bilaspur, which falls within the reservoir's jurisdiction. According to senior officials in BBMB, the state government will now place the proposal before the Assembly for final approval. Once cleared, BBMB plans to undertake desilting work as a one-year pilot project.

Officials explained that around 38–39 million cubic metres of silt enter the reservoir every year, much higher than the 33–34 MCM originally estimated. The dam was designed to handle 33.61 MCM of annual silt load. Experts estimate that nearly 25–26 per cent of the reservoir is already filled with silt.

Though the sediment is still about 10 km from the dam, the advancing deposits continue to reduce the water-holding capacity. They warn that if the present rate of silt inflow continues, the reservoir capacity could drop by 35–40 per cent by 2050.

Bilaspur has been chosen as the desilting site because water levels there remain low for nearly 8 months of the year, making excavation easier. Its location along the National Highway Authority of India corridor will also facilitate the transportation of the excavated material. NHAI is expected to use the silt for earthwork and road embankment construction, which will help reduce construction costs.

As per the proposed plan, the revenue earned from the mineral-rich silt will be shared among Himachal Pradesh, BBMB and other member states according to a fixed formula. Himachal Pradesh will receive the largest share since the dam and its reservoir are located within the state. It will get its usual royalty from sand mining, while BBMB will keep any additional income.

BILASPUR PICKED AS DESILTING SITE

For the first time since 1963, a desilting operation will be carried out at the Gobind Sagar reservoir of the Bhakra Dam

Decades of sedimentation have reduced the reservoir's storage capacity by nearly 25%

The Union Jal Shakti Ministry has formed a committee to oversee the desilting process

The move follows HP's in-principle approval to the BBMB proposal for desilting the Sutlej River at Bilaspur, within reservoir area

The reservoir receives 38–39 MCM of silt annually, more than the 33–34 MCM originally estimated and above dam's design capacity of 33.61 MCM

STATE GOVT WILL NEXT SEEK FINAL APPROVAL FROM THE ASSEMBLY, AFTER WHICH BBMB PLANS A ONE-YEAR PILOT DESILTING PROJECT

Pregnant woman, deported to B'desh, returns with son after SC directive

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

FINALLY, pregnant Sunali Khatun, along with her eight-year-old son Sabir, returned to India on Friday evening after spending more than six months in Bangladesh. Four others among the six Bengali-speaking Indians who were pushed back to Bangladesh by the Delhi Police on suspicion of being Bangladeshi nationals, stayed back in the country.

All the six belong to the same family and hail from Birbhum in West Bengal. Sunali and her son entered India through India-Bangladesh border in Malda district this evening amidst tight security arrangement of the BSF. They were taken to the local BSF camp for some official works in presence of senior administrative officials and then rushed to the state-run Malda Medical College Hospital for thorough health check-ups.

Samirul Islam, ruling Trinamool Congress Rajya Sabha MP, told this paper, "Sunali and her son have been taken to the Malda Medical College Hospital for their health check-ups. They will return to their village Paikar in Murarai of Birbhum district on Saturday. We demand the Bangladesh government to send back the four others to India immediately."

"This day will be remembered as a historic moment that exposes the torture and atrocities inflicted on poor Bengalis. Sunali, who was pregnant at the time, was forcibly deported in June this year. After enduring six months of unimaginable suffering, she and her child have at least to homeland," Samirul said on an X handle post.

"It must also be stated that despite Hon'ble Supreme Court's clear order, the anti-poor Central Government failed to take any action over the past two days to ensure their immediate return. As a result, our advocates were compelled to mention the matter once again before the Supreme Court. Only then was the return finally made possible," he said on X.

The apex court on Wednesday directed the West Bengal government to provide medical assistance to Sunali, who is in an advanced stage of pregnancy, free of charge after the Centre told the court that it would bring her and her son Sabir to India from Bangladesh.

Airfares surge 10 times amid cancellatons

Air India's one-stop Delhi-Bengaluru flight for Friday night was priced above ₹1 lakh

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AIRFARES on select routes surged over 10-fold as widespread cancellations by India's largest airline IndiGo triggered a market panic. Flight booking platforms showed that Air India's one-stop Delhi-Bengaluru flight for Friday night was priced above ₹1 lakh, a record high never seen before.

The sudden cancellation of flights by IndiGo due to pilot and cabin crew shortage has drastically reduced the number of available seats, causing a sharp rise in last-minute ticket prices across sectors, especially to and from Delhi. IndiGo domestic flights scheduled to depart on Friday were cancelled until 11:59 pm.

Air India, the next largest alternative to IndiGo, is quoting fares 5-6 times higher than usual on busy routes for the coming days, as IndiGo's disruption is expected to last at least 10 more days. Smaller carriers like Akasa Air and SpiceJet are aggressively capitalising on the opportunity.

While Air India's website and app show none to very limited seats available from Delhi to Bengaluru, Mumbai and Chennai between Friday and Sunday, a few travel platforms were seen selling tickets at astonishing prices. On Friday about 2 pm, an Air India one-stop flight from Delhi to Bengaluru for Friday night was quoted at ₹1.02 lakh while a non-stop SpiceJet ticket on the same route was priced around ₹93,719. Airfares between the Hyderabad and Delhi route also shot up, with one-stop Air India tickets surging to ₹70,000.

Delhi–Mumbai tickets on Air India were selling for as much as ₹60,000 on Friday for the same-day flight, while Chennai–Delhi tickets on Air India Express were quoted at ₹41,000. Even the short-duration Hyderabad–Bengaluru tickets were sold between ₹35,000 and ₹40,000 on Friday. Regular fares on these sectors typically range between ₹4,000 and ₹8,000.

Going forward, very few seats are available on busy routes given that IndiGo dominates India's aviation market with a 2/3 market share. For Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Air India is selling Delhi-Mumbai tickets at a starting price of ₹33,275.

Economists see one more cut before pause

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

PEGGING the terminal policy rate at 5%, unless inflation surprises on the downside, most economists are unanimous in forecasting one more rate cut. HDFC Bank economists Sakshi Gupta and Deepthi Mathew see room for more easing saying that the substantial downward revision in inflation forecast suggests that space for further rate cuts remains intact if the recent growth momentum shows signs of faltering ahead.

The February policy, therefore, remains a live policy in terms of further rate cuts and/or liquidity injections, particularly if the current pace of forex intervention continues in the absence of a trade deal.

On the upwardly revised growth numbers to 7.3%, they retained their earlier forecast of 7.3% considering the stronger H1 numbers and support from a low deflator.

"But we expect growth to moderate during the second half of the year as the front-loading effect of exports and government spending wanes, and the impact of higher tariffs on exports becomes more prominent. For FY27, we expect GDP growth at 6.5%," they said.

On the impact of the rate cut on the rupee, which they see heading further down to 92-93, they said "the monetary policy is likely to have only a transitory impact on the rupee and the trade deal announcement and capital account flows are likely to remain the dominant driver for the currency.

Nomura India economists Sonal Varma, Aurodeep Nandi, and Nathan Sribalasundaram also see one more rate cut with the terminal at 5%.

"We maintain our terminal policy rate at 5% and expect a pause in February, but a 25 bps cut in April," they said, adding the downward revision in inflation to 2% and continuing neutral stance makes the overall policy tone a dovish cut. "The easing cycle is not over, in our view but, having delivered 125 bps of cuts already, the MPC has the flexibility to go slow from here," they added.

Paras Jasrai, an associate director at India Ratings, said the 25 bps cut would have been driven by the slowing nominal GDP growth and would have also played a role in influencing the central bank's decision. "Going forward, as growth is expected to slow in H2 following a strong H1, the focus will likely shift towards supporting economic expansion, given the benign inflation outlook extending into H1FY27," he said.

However, Kaushik Das, chief economist Deutsche Bank India, Malaysia, and South Asia, "expects a prolonged pause in 2026, unless growth surprises sharply to the downside."

POLICY SNAPSHOT

- RBI cuts the repo rate by another 25 bps
- Repo rates has been cut by 125 bps in 2025
- Central bank revises FY26 GDP growth to 7.3%
- Inflation in FY26 is predicted to be 2%

Markets cheer RBI repo rate cut; banking, financial stocks lead rally

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

EQUITY markets benchmark indices, BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty which opened cautiously amid mixed global cues, gained momentum following the Reserve Bank of India's decision to cut the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.25%. The Sensex closed at 85,712.37, up 447.05 points or 0.52% while the Nifty50 settled at 26,186.45, up 152.7 points or 0.59%.

"Indian markets have enthusiastically responded to the RBI's unexpected 25 bps rate cut, a move that seemed unlikely given the strong Q2 GDP data. This surprise, combined with sharply lower inflation forecasts and supportive liquidity measures, has triggered a risk-on sentiment across equities," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Investments Limited.

Rate-sensitive sectors such as autos, real estate, and NBFCs led the gains due to a reduction in borrowing costs. Private banks also gained on the expectation of treasury profits but concerns around net interest margins (NIM) limited their upside. On the sectoral front, Nifty PSU Bank and Nifty Financial Services emerged as the top two sectoral gainers.

As many as 38 stocks ended in the green in the Nifty50 universe with Shriram Finance (up 3.04%), SBI (up 2.49%), and Bajaj Finserv (up 2.13%) emerging as top gainers.

"Overall, the short-term outlook remains cautiously positive, with a focus on strong corporate earnings in December. However, near-term risks such as a widening current account deficit and global trade tensions continue to pose challenges. The stance of the US Fed on rate cuts will be crucial for maintaining the domestic trend for the month," added Nair. The market also got a boost from the RBI's announcement that it will conduct Open Market Operation (OMO) purchases of government securities worth Rs 1 lakh crore and $5 billion buy/sell swap of three-year to infuse durable liquidity.

RBI to inject ₹1 lakh crore liquidity through OMO purchases

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Friday announced a two-pronged liquidity injection operation worth over Rs 1.6 lakh crore for the month of December. The move aims to support credit growth and reinforce the transmission of past policy rate cuts into the broader economy.

The RBI will conduct Open Market Operation (OMO) purchases of government securities worth ₹1,00,000 crore in two equal tranches of ₹50,000 crore each on December 11 and December 18. Simultaneously, it will undertake a 3-year USD/INR Buy/Sell Swap auction of $5 billion (nearly ₹61,500 crore at current exchange rates) on December 16. These operations are designed to provide durable liquidity to the system.

The announcements were detailed by RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra during his monetary policy review address, where he reiterated the central bank's commitment to maintaining sufficient system liquidity.

Malhotra provided context, noting that system liquidity, as measured by the net position under the Liquidity Adjustment Facility (LAF), has remained in a comfortable average surplus of ₹1.5 lakh crore since the last MPC meeting in October. He emphasised that the primary goal of OMOs is to manage this durable liquidity, distinct from the management of transient liquidity via short-term repo operations.

US trade team coming to India next week

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

A TRADE negotiating team from the US will be visiting New Delhi next week to further proceed with bilateral trade talks, confirmed a source from the Ministry of Commerce. While the complete agenda of the meeting along with the details of the participant is yet to be disclosed, Deputy US Trade Representative Rick Switzer's expected to be a part of the delegation.

This is likely to be just a bureaucratic level talk as no schedule has been made yet in terms of meeting the Commerce Minister in India. "Dates are being worked out. We will know next week only. Details being worked out," said a source from the Commerce Ministry. The update came amid the ongoing India-Russia summit, which has been participated by Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Indian exporters are looking forward to a speedy completio of of the Indo-US trade talks as several sectors such as carpets, textiles, marine goods have been subjected to 50% tariff by the US, as a penalty for buying Russian oil.

Meanwhile, Russian President Vladimir Putin challenged heavy US pressure on India to not buy Russian fuel. "The United States itself still buys nuclear fuel from us for its own nuclear power plants. That is also fuel," Putin said.

LS passes Pan Masala cess; fund to support govt spending on security

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNION Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday said that collecting revenue and ensuring the nation is well defended are the rightful duties of any government — and that is exactly what the Centre is doing. She was responding to a debate on the Health Security and National Security Cess Bill, 2025, which was passed in the Lok Sabha on Friday.

The proposed cess will be linked to the production capacity of the machinery used, rather than the volume of goods manufactured.

Justifying the levy, the minister recalled how a 2015 CAG audit report had found the Army's ammunition reserves at crisis levels. "Against the official requirement of stocking 40 days of war reserves, 125 of 170 ammunition types fell below even 20 days' supply… that's the level to which our armed forces were depleted. We cannot afford that," she said. The new cess, she added, will help support government expenditure related to national security and public health.

Initially, the Bill applies only to pan masala, but the government may notify an extension of the cess to other goods if necessary. The levy will be imposed on anyone who owns, operates or controls machinery or processes used in the manufacture of pan masala. It will be calculated based on maximum rated speed (pouches/tins per minute) and weight per pack, or a flat rate in the case of manual processes.

Responding to criticisms that a cess would deprive states of revenue, the minister pointed out that cesses as a percentage of gross tax revenue (GTR), excluding the compensation cess, are estimated at 6.1% in the 2025-26 budget — lower than 7% during 2010-14. Giving details of the revenue collected from different cesses, she said that the government collected ₹11.11 lakh crore from 2014-15 to 2025-26 under the Road and Infrastructure Cess, while it transferred ₹11.34 lakh crore for use of its specific purpose. It collected ₹6.07 lakh crore under the health and education cess, and ₹3.87 lakh crore under the Agriculture Infrastructure and Development Cess.

SEBI cracks down on Avadhut Sathe Trading Academy, impounds ₹546 crore

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

IN a major crackdown, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on Friday issued an ex-parte interim order against the Avadhut Sathe Trading Academy Private Limited (ASTAPL) and its founder Avadhut Sathe, alleging that the entity operated as an unregistered investment adviser and research analyst and collecting ₹601.38 crore from over 4.1 lakh participants across various courses between July 2015 and October 2025. The order, passed by Whole Time Member Kamlesh Varshney, restrained the company and its promoter, Sathe, from the securities market and directed the impounding of ₹546.16 crore, deemed to be unlawful gains.

The Sebi's investigation, initiated based on complaints and a previous warning issued in March 2024, found that ASTAPL and Sathe were not merely educating students. It alleges they were providing specific investment advice, stock recommendations, and trading calls — activities that require mandatory registration with SEBI.

The order provides key evidence that to Sathe's unlawful activities. Video recordings show Sathe was providing specific entry/exit points, stop-loss levels, and price targets for stocks like Kotak Mahindra Bank, Reliance Industries, and Natural Gas futures during paid sessions.

The Sebi order said ASTAPL published video testimonials of students claiming extraordinary profits. SEBI verified the actual trading records of these individuals and found they had incurred losses, not profits.

Govt reviews plan to keep GPS on in smartphones

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Union government is reviewing a telecom industry proposal that would require smartphone manufacturers to keep satellite-based location tracking permanently activated to enable more precise surveillance. However, according to media report, Apple, Google and Samsung have opposed the move on privacy grounds.

The report, citing sources, said the Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI) —which represents Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel — has suggested that accurate user location data can only be provided if the Centre mandates smartphone makers to activate A-GPS technology, which uses satellite signals along with cellular data.

NON-OIL PRIVATE SECTOR GROWTH ACCELERATES IN NOV

The UAE' non-oil private sector output expanded at its fastest pace in 11 months in November, driven by robust market conditions and a surge in new business, a survey showed on Friday. The seasonally adjusted S&P Global UAE Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) rose to 54.8 in November from 53.8 in October, marking a nine-month high, and remained well in growth territory. "Strong customer demand and healthy sales pipelines encouraged firms to expand both their output and staf ing," said David Owen, senior economist at S&P Global Market Intelligence. Employment growth reached an 18-month high, though the rise in wage costs added to overall business expenses, he noted. New business volumes saw their strongest growth since January, supported by a favourable market environment, product innovation, and diversification efforts. The new order sub-index rose to a reading of 57.4 in November, from 56 previous month.

CHINA

NOV EXPORTS MAY HAVE RECOILED DUE TO TARIFF TRUCE

China's exports likely returned to growth in November after an unexpected dip in October, as manufacturers rushed to move inventory to take advantage of a fresh tariff truce with the US. In a deal in late October that followed a sharp escalation in tensions, President Donald Trump and his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping agreed to trim their tariffs and pause a raft of other measures. Outbound shipments from China in November were expected to have risen by 3.8% by value on-year, according to the median forecast of 20 economists in a Reuters poll, after a 1.1% contraction a month earlier – the worst performance since February. Imports were forecast to have climbed 2.8%, compared with a lacklustre 1.0% gain the month earlier, as a protracted property slump continues to drag on consumer confidence and the broader economy.

JAPAN

BOJ MAY CHOOSE 'CONSTRUCTIVE AMBIGUITY' ON HIKES

Investors seeking clarity from the Bank of Japan on how much higher interest rates could go could be disappointed, former central bank officials say, as clear-cut estimates on neutral interest rates are too difficult and even counter-productive. Governor Kazuo Ueda's hawkish signals on Monday have led markets to almost fully price in the chance of a hike in the BOJ's policy rate to 0.75% from 0.5% in December. He also said the BOJ will offer clearer guidance on how far its policy rate is from the neutral rate, heightening attention to what signals he may drop on the future rate-hike path. The BOJ's current estimates suggest Japan's nominal neutral rate of interest lies somewhere in a range of 1% to 2.5%. As a hike to 0.75% would bring the policy rate close to the bottom of the range, some analysts bet the BOJ will revise up the neutral rate estimate to tell markets that it can still keep hiking rates without hurting the economy.

Kaynes admits to not disclosing related party transactions

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

KAYNES Technology India Limited on Friday issued a detailed clarification to the stock exchanges, addressing specific concerns raised in a Kotak Institutional Equities' report published on December 3.

The electronic manufacturing services (EMS) company provided point-by-point responses, acknowledging some administrative errors while defending its core accounting practices, particularly those related to its recent acquisition of Iskraemeco. It, however, admits to inadvertently not disclosing some related party transactions in the financial statements. The clarification comes as Kaynes' stock experienced pressure in the market following the brokerage report. The share price on Friday fell by 7% to ₹4,600. It lost over 15% in the last five trading sessions. It is currently trading at 42% below its 52-week high of ₹7,822 a share. The report questioned the goodwill recognition/reserve adjustments following acquisitions.

Kaynes clarified that under Ind AS 103 (Business Combinations), previously unrecognised intangible assets can be recognised as part of acquisition accounting.

Since a major part of the consideration for the Iskraemeco acquisition was for a major contract, customer contracts were recognised as an intangible asset and amortised over the contract term.

The brokerage noted that contingent liabilities increased to ₹520 crore, or 18% of the net worth.

The management said major additions to contingent liabilities during the year were attributed to the post-acquisition funding needs of Iskraemeco.

Asiad: Yadav named Chef de Mission

Indian Olympic Association treasurer Sahdev Yadav, who is also the head of the national weightlifting body, has been named Chef de Mission for next year's Asian Games, scheduled in Aichi-Nagoya in Japan from September 23 to October 8. India's ace table tennis player A Sharath Kamal will be the deputy Chef de Mission.

Argentina in easy group have managed to avoid all the big guns in the other pots and have been given a comparatively soft landing as they have been paired with Austria, Algeria and Jordan. Lionel Messi, who hopes to be there, and his teammates couldn't have asked for a better group. Austria and Algeria do possess individual match-winners but they lack the big game nous and the technical abilities the Argentines possess.

England in a tricky group

England face the proposition of facing both Croatia and Ghana in their group. Croatia, even with a very ageing squad, just have the knowledge of getting it done at the biggest stages. With the likes of Luka Modric still featuring for the national team, never rule them out. For Ghana, Antoine Semenyo, one of the stars of the ongoing Premier League season, will be a massive player.

Haaland vs Mbappe

The World Cup has meant a dilution in terms of big clashes but the draw has paired Norway and France in the same group, meaning a clash between Kylian Mbappe and Erling Haaland, two of the most lethal strikers in the game today. France are one of the favourites to win the Cup but Norway, who breezed past qualification, will fancy their chances. Senegal, who beat France in the group stages of the 2002 edition, are also present in the group making this a very tasty group.

Watch out for Italy

Italy, currently in UEFA Path A as one of the teams aiming to secure qualifying, will land in a very soft Group B if they qualify. Also featuring Switzerland, Canada and Qatar, the former champions will know they couldn't have asked for a friendlier draw. Now, the onus is on them to confirm qualifying a few months before the event begins.

Guts & glory: India pull off thrilling win

Sharda Nand Tiwari slots in all three penalty strokes in shoot-out win against Belgium; hosts to face Germany next

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

THE tension was hanging in the air like an unwelcome visitor in the night long after dinner time. In terms of the structure, the Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium cannot be compared to the more imposing arenas across Bhubaneswar but what it lacks in size, it makes up for in heart and desire.

At various points during India's ultra tight quarterfinal clash against Belgium at the junior World Cup, fans became coaches. "Defend," a few of them kept shouting. "One-man defending." The electricity ratcheted up a few more notches during the rolling shoot-out. After the match had finished 2-2 in regulation time, the visitors — whose senior team have been a thorn for India at various FIH events over the last decade — were level after the first three penalties.

While all their players had found the back of the board, an Indian player was fouled by their goalkeeper in each of the first attempts. So it was left to Sharda Nand Tiwari. He found it all three times, marrying remarkable composure with pinpoint precision, words you wouldn't normally associate with Indian hockey players in high pressure situations. In fact, the senior men's team lost to New Zealand on penalties during the senior World Cup in 2023. But this team's character and resilience shown through on a day when they needed oodles and oodles of it to put away very obdurate opponents.

Indian players celebrate their victory over Belgium on Friday | ASHWIN PRASATH

With 17 seconds to go in the third quarter, India were seemingly on the verge of exiting their own party. Belgium had nullified their attacking threat and they had also scored a goal. 1-0 with 15 minutes change remaining to rescue a home World Cup.

Step forward captain Rohit, who had to have a plate inserted in his jaw after taking a ball to the face in the camp last year. During his rehab, the 21-year-old did wonder about the sometimes cruel nature of this sport where willingly rushing to stop a ball travelling over 100kph is part of the job description.

On Friday, though, he was the one who sent the ball low and fast into the Belgium goal to bring the hosts back into a contest where they were in danger of being shut out by an obdurate Belgian defence. That's when Rohit, in the absence of the injured Araijeet Hundal, the team's star dragflicker, stepped up and slammed home the deadball. It was the lift-off after a very worrying 40 minutes where the hosts had hit a red wall. With momentum on their side for the first time in the match, they poured forward as they sensed an opportunity. They found a hole in the Belgium defence and earned another penalty corner which Tiwari converted to bring the roof down. A 0-1 deficit had become 2-1 in a matter of minutes but the visitors, who had removed their goalkeeper, scored a field goal in the dying embers to push the game into a shoot-out. There, the hosts let the sticks do the talking to signal the end of a madcap 30 minutes to the game. On Sunday, they will face the reigning champions for a place in the final.

Other results: Spain 4-3 New Zealand, France 2(2)-2(3) Germany (via shoot-out), Netherlands 0-1 Argentina. Semifinal fixtures (on Sunday): Spain vs Argentina, India vs Germany.

Article on Dutch website galvanises Argentina

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

ARGENTINA'S hockey teams across all levels and genders are known for mixing flair with discipline. They are robust, not shy to impose their physicality. These words, used by the Dutch hockey website — hockey.nl — caused serious consternation within the Argentinian set-up as soon as the article titled 'Argentinians covered in tattoos:...' was published on the website.

When the young team and support staff read it on Thursday night, the motivation to beat them in the third quarterfinals of the junior hockey World Cup went up a few notches. "You have to check hockey.nl," said coach Juan Gilardi in the mixed zone after the game. "You have to see what they wrote, it's not nice."

Hockey.nl, as a kind of preview for the game, suggested that the country's players don't make ideal son-in-laws. The article also noted their physicality as one of their main strengths. It also highlighted the tattoos of some of the players, including captain Tomas Ruiz. "A dragon-like creature, a butterfly, an ace playing card, the number 15... you name, he's had it inked onto his skin," the piece further stated (a loose translation from Dutch). Gilardi wants an official apology from the federation. "It's not nice," he said. "We were angry about that. They should respect other teams. I hope there will be some kind of apology."

While hockey.nl is not the official website of the federation, it's closely linked with that of the KNHB, the federation. But a disclaimer on the hockey.nl states: "Hockey.nl and OranjeHockey are publications of the KNHB. However, the opinions expressed on the Platforms should not be considered the official views of the KNHB, unless explicitly stated otherwise."

The match itself was a typical game featuring Argentina at this level against a high-end European opponent. There was a lot of defending. The Dutch teams love to attack so the South Americans came out with a clear game plan to 'stay compact', according to Gilardi, who won the 2016 Olympics with the senior team. Netherlands entered the striking circle 31 times (Argentina had 10 circle penetrations) but their goal bound efforts either found a stick or were thwarted by the goalkeeper. Full story: newindianexpress.com

Hosts look to avoid twin series loss

ENS @ Chennai

THE ODI series will be on line and so will be India's impeccable record at home for almost 40 years when they take on South Africa in the third and final match of the series at the Dr YS Rajasekhara Reddy ACA-VDCA Cricket Stadium, Visakhapatnam on Saturday. It was South Africa, who last won both the Test and ODI series against India during the same bilateral series in 2021-22. At home, however, India have not lost the two series (ODI and Test) of a tour since their defeats against Pakistan in 1986-87.

In their bid to avoid the ignominy and keep the home record intact, KL Rahul and Co will not only eye an improved show on the field but also hope the coin flips their way as they have lost 20 tosses in the format. They last won a toss in an ODI on November 19 during the 2023 World Cup semifinal. During this period, Rohit Sharma lost the toss 12 times while Rahul and Shubman Gill have lost five and three times respectively. With the dew coming into play during this time in the country, the toss becomes even more important. It was evident during the second match in Raipur when the visitors chased down a mammoth target of 359 despite trailing during the majority of the match.

As far as the on field action is concerned, both teams reached the city on Thursday evening boarding a charter flight despite massive disruption across airports in the country due to Indigo cancelling flights — over 1000 on Friday itself. The charter flight might have been delayed by more than a couple of hours but the ongoing crisis is unlikely to have any impact on the upcoming five-match T20I series starting in Cuttack on December 9.

A top BCCI official confirmed that they are keeping an eye on the developments. Once again the onus will be on the most-experienced Indian pair — Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli — who might have retired from the two remaining formats but have been in excellent form in the 50-over matches. Kohli has two centuries and a fifty in his last three innings, while Rohit has a hundred and two fifties in his last four outings. Rahul too has slammed two half-centuries in two matches. The three seniors also need more support from the youngsters, who so far have not contributed as expected.

5 SA players arrive for T20I

Ahead of the first T20I, five South Africa players arrived in Cuttack on Friday. The match is scheduled to be held at the Barabati Stadium.

DECIDING FACTOR

After losing the second ODI in Raipur, India face South Africa in the decider at Visakhapatnam on Saturday. A look..

Spotlight on RoKo

Consecutive series defeats is unthinkable for India in the current scenario, particularly when the dressing room is perceived to be pulling in different directions. A victory in this match could quell that chatter, and for that, Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma need to do the heavy lifting again.

Dew factor

The coastal town of Vishakapatnam is expected to be humid, despite the recent dip in temperature due to cyclonic weather. The conditions will again be looked into as the defeat at Raipur could be attributed to the dew factor.

SA look for another series scalp

The visiting Proteas team will be keen to inflict India's 2nd ODI series loss at home since 2022-23 (vs Australia). The fitnesses of pacer Nandre Burger and batter Tony de Zorzi will be monitored.

Chennai suffer first loss, Mumbai get vital victory

ENS/AGENCIES @ New Delhi

CHENNAI Super Warriors suffered their first defeat of the season in the Indian Pickleball League, going down 2-4 against Lucknow Leopards on Friday.

Earlier, Mumbai Smashers beat Capital Warriors Gurgaon 4-2 to notch their maiden win and keep their knockout hopes alive. In the other match, Hyderabad Royals fought back to hold Bengaluru Blasters to a 3-3 draw. The results created an extraordinary deadlock, with three knockout hopefuls level on Tie Points, Match Points, and Head-to-Head, forcing a three-team play-in between Mumbai, Gurgaon, and Bengaluru for the final knockout spot.

World No 3 Quang Duong set Mumbai roaring with a ruthless 15-1 demolition of Arik Badami, but Gurgaon hit back as Stavya Bhasin and Jack Munro controlled the kitchen line to take the men's doubles 15-9. Allison Harris then steadied Mumbai with a 15-11 win after surviving a fightback from Emilia Schmidt. But Schmidt and Naimi Mehta dragged Gurgaon at level again with a 15-12 women's doubles victory. Bengaluru entered their must-win clash against already-qualified Hyderabad Royals with all guns blazing. Phuc Huynh held off a late surge from Divyanshu Kataria to take the men's singles 15–10, before returning with teenager Arjun Singh to repeat the scoreline in the men's doubles. Pei Chuan Kao then produced one of Bengaluru's finest performances of the season, recovering from an early deficit, owning the kitchen line, and outfoxing Megan Fudge 15–13 to make it 3–0.

Results: Mumbai Smashers 4-2 Capital Warriors Gurgaon; Hyderabad Royals 3-3 Bengaluru Blasters; Chennai Super Warriors 2-4 Lucknow Leopards.

Australia seize control on Day 2

AGENCIES @ Brisbane

A RELENTLESS Australia seized a 44-run lead over England in the day-night second Ashes Test in Brisbane on Friday, with aggressive opener Jake Weatherald and Steve Smith leading the charge.

By stumps the hosts had not only reeled in England's first-innings 334 but raced clear, ending a draining day two on 378-6 in front of a big and boisterous crowd at a humid Gabba.

A decent lead is shaping as pivotal, with the pitch likely to deteriorate in the coming days. The hosts are 1-0 up in the series after beating England in Perth inside two days. "That was a crucial last hour there for us. To get to the end of play six down gives us a bit of time in the morning in that day session," said Marnus Labuschagne, who cracked 65. At close Alex Carey, who was dropped first ball and again on 25, was not-out 46 with Michael Neser on 15, but England's pace cartel made in-roads under lights in the evening session in a semblance of a fightback. Australia were cruising at 291-3 before the expensive Brydon Carse removed Cameron Green (45) and Smith (61) in four deliveries as England's short-ball tactics paid off. The bowlers though were guilty of too many loose deliveries while four easy catches were put down.

F1: Last race, three contenders

The Formula One drivers' title will be decided in the season finale in Abu Dhabi this weekend. A look at the contenders...

CURRENT STATE

After 23 races of the 24-race season Lando Norris leads the championship on 408 points, 12 clear of Red Bull's four-time champion Max Verstappen and 16 clear of his McLaren teammate Oscar Piastri.

THE EQUATION

NORRIS: All Norris has to do to claim his maiden title is finish on the podium at Yas Marina, irrespective of where his two title rivals finish. He won in Abu Dhabi last year.

VERSTAPPEN: To complete his remarkable season Verstappen, chasing a fifth title, needs is a win on Sunday and hope that Norris finishes no higher than fourth.

PIASTRI: The Australian's chances are slim, but his task is clear if not simple — he will take the title if he finishes first or second and both Norris & Verstappen have an off day.

1) This is the first time more than two drivers have been in with a shot of claiming the title since 2010.

India faces ecological emergency as invasives surge

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Nairobi

INDIA is confronting a rapidly escalating ecological crisis as invasive alien plants surge across forests, grasslands, wetlands and farmlands — reshaping ecosystems at a pace and scale not previously understood. A recent peer-reviewed study published in Nature Sustainability this year presents the clearest national picture yet. Invasive plants are spreading across nearly 15,500 sq km of natural areas every year, displacing native vegetation, degrading wildlife habitats, threatening pastoral livelihoods and creating cascading socio-ecological risks across the country.

At the same time, the world's top biodiversity science body, IPBES, warns that invasive species are now among the top five direct drivers of global biodiversity loss, costing economies more than $423 billion annually in damages and management costs. For India, which is home to extraordinary biodiversity and hundreds of millions whose lives are directly tied to natural systems, the implications are profound. Amid this national emergency, Tamil Nadu has emerged as a rare example of proactive, policy-driven management, attempting what few states have even articulated, which is controlling invasives at scale, restoring ecosystems.

The Nature Sustainability study, based on 16 years of field monitoring across 2,77,000 sq km, paints an alarming picture. By 2022, nearly 144 million people, 2.79 million livestock and about 2,00,000 sq km of smallholder agriculture had already been exposed to new invasions. Over 2,66,954 sq km of India's natural landscapes are now invaded, including more than 1,05,000 sq km of tiger habitat. Many invasions are expanding fastest in ecosystems weakened by climate change, rising temperatures, altered fire regimes, fragmentation and habitat degradation.

"At current rates, entire ecosystems could shift from native to invasive dominance within a generation," said lead author Ninad Mungi in a statement, adding, "These plants are moving faster than we can manage or even monitor them."

Species such as Chromolaena odorata are spreading at nearly 1,988 sq km a year, outpacing any existing management efforts. Lantana camara, Prosopis juliflora and Chromolaena dominate large swathes of forest and dryland habitats, with Prosopis transforming entire arid and semi-arid regions of western and peninsular India. Researchers warn that without decisive interventions, several natural ecosystems could shift entirely from native to invasive dominance within a generation. These shifts have direct ecological consequences, invasions affect tens of thousands of square kilometres of herbivore habitat annually and erode the ecosystems upon which large carnivores and pastoral livelihoods depend.

The study's authors argue that invasions reflect deeper systemic disruptions. Fragmented landscapes, rapid land-use change, intensifying agriculture and climate extremes have created ideal conditions for invasives to spread. Meanwhile, the IPBES assessment highlighted how poorly equipped countries are to respond. Most nations—including India—lack national-level legislation for invasive species, dedicated regulatory frameworks or long-term financing mechanisms. Eighty-three percent of countries worldwide lack even basic invasive species laws. In India, management remains fragmented, reactive and heavily underfunded.

Few states demonstrate both the scale of the challenge and the possibility of coordinated response as clearly as Tamil Nadu. According to official government data, 1,77,363 hectare of forest land in the state are infested with major invasive plants. As of October 2025, the state had cleared 34,710 hectare, including 26,735 hectare of Lantana, 4,685 hectare of Prosopis, 1,963 hectare of Senna spectabilis and 1,327 hectare of wattle. The remaining 142,653 hectare still require removal and restoration. Some of the worst invasions occur in Mudumalai Tiger Reserve, Sathyamangalam Tiger Reserve, the Nilgiris and the dry eastern ghats — landscapes that the Nature Sustainability study also mapped as national invasion hotspots. Tamil Nadu's approach, however, sets it apart. It has pioneered a circular-economy model by partnering with pulp and paper industries to repurpose invasive biomass. Tamil Nadu Newsprint and Papers Limited (TNPL) has removed over 31,000 tonne of Senna spectabilis from 854 hectare and used it as pulpwood. Combined with Seshasayee Paper and Boards (SPB), the state has cleared Senna across Mudumalai, Sathyamangalam, Pollachi, Erode, Ooty and Masinagudi. Instead of burning or dumping biomass, Tamil Nadu has created a new economic loop—removal, utilisation and reinvestment in restoration.

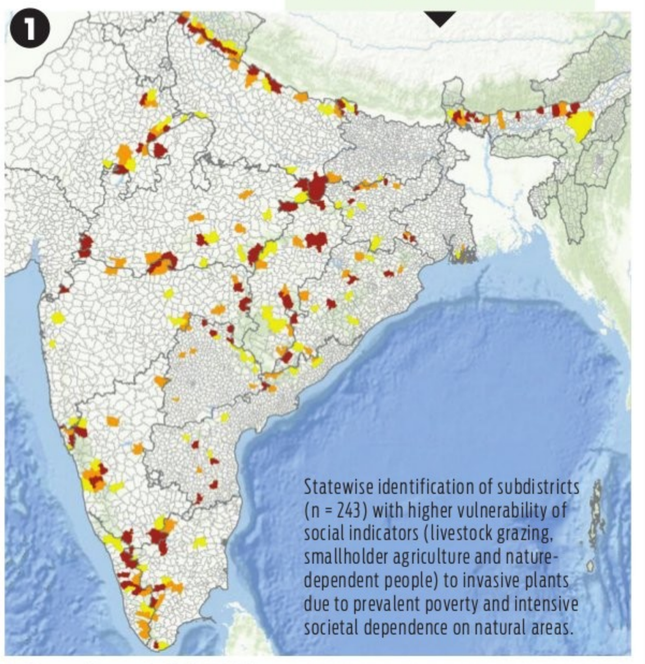
Equally significant is the introduction of India's first dedicated State Policy for Invasive Plant Eradication and Restoration (PIPER), launched by Chief Minister MK Stalin himself. The policy's framework mirrors IPBES recommendations calling for coordinated governance, early detection, long-term monitoring, community participation and science-based restoration. Senior officials say the urgency is clear. Supriya Sahu, additional chief secretary (Environment, Forest and Climate Change), told TNIE, "Tamil Nadu recognised this challenge early and moved from policy to practice. From pioneering India's first invasive plant eradication policy to systematically clearing Senna, Prosopis and Lantana across thousands of hectares, we are showing that scientific restoration and circular economy can go hand in hand. Time is running out—the global evidence is clear, and urgent action is the only way to bring back lost biodiversity."

On the ground, forest managers emphasise the long-term nature of the work. Removal alone is not enough; maintenance is essential. As R. Kiruba Shankar, field director of Mudumalai Tiger Reserve, notes, "We need to maintain cleared landscapes for at least two to three years for permanent change. Fresh Senna shoots are emerging despite all our efforts—maintenance is the key."

The global numbers illustrate why Tamil Nadu's efforts are nationally significant. More than 37,000 alien species have been introduced worldwide, over 3,500 are already invasive, and invasions have contributed to 60 per cent of recorded global extinctions—acting as the sole cause in 16 per cent of cases. Economic costs are rising exponentially, with damages quadrupling every decade since 1970. These patterns increasingly resemble India's unfolding reality that is shrinking grasslands, altered fire regimes, soil degradation, reduced fodder availability, respiratory irritants, and the widespread displacement of native biodiversity. The Nature Sustainability paper calls for a National Invasive Species Mission, arguing that India lacks a unified national strategy, standardised monitoring, coordinated biosecurity, and a central repository of management outcomes. Tamil Nadu's approach—combining policy, industrial partnerships, science-led mapping, tiger reserve integration and restoration of native grasslands—offers a replicable blueprint for the country.

Scientists caution that without coordinated national action, many ecosystems may cross irreversible thresholds. Co-author YV Jhala warns that failing to manage invasives risks "losing biodiversity, livelihoods and the fragile balance of coexistence."

HIGH-RISK ZONES FOR MANAGEMENT PRIORITY



1
Statewise identification of subdistricts (n = 243) with higher vulnerability of social indicators (livestock grazing, smallholder agriculture and nature-dependent people) to invasive plants due to prevalent poverty and intensive societal dependence on natural areas.
2
Statewise identification of protected areas (n = 167) with high vulnerability of ecological indicators (natural area, herbivore occupancy and tiger occupancy) to invasive plants due to higher population of large carnivores dependent on natural areas. List of names of the subdistricts, protected areas and dominant invasive plant species are provided in Supplementary Table 14.

Trump-backed Texas voting map gets top court's nod

WASHINGTON

THE US Supreme Court on Thursday allowed Texas to use redrawn congressional districts for the 2026 midterm elections, boosting the hopes of President Donald Trump's Republicans to retain control of the House of Representatives.

The push by Texas, which carves out five more Republican-friendly districts and came at the behest of Trump, launched a series of similar efforts in states around the country.

The decision by the conservative-dominated high court stayed a lower ruling which had said the redrawn maps "unconstitutionally" sort voters based on race.

"Texas needs certainty on which map will govern the 2026 midterm elections, so I will not delay the Court's order," Justice Samuel Alito, one of six conservatives on the bench, wrote in his concurring opinion. The three liberal justices all dissented with the order, which was unsigned.

"The District Court conducted a nine-day hearing... And after considering all the evidence, it held that the answer was clear. Texas largely divided its citizens along racial lines to create its new pro-Republican House map," Justice Elena Kagan wrote in her dissent.

While the ruling is technically only a temporary halt to the lower court ruling, with a candidate filing deadline next week in Texas, it effectively ensures that the Republican-favored map will be in effect for the 2026 midterms.

US electoral districts are traditionally drawn following the national census, taken once per decade to reflect the changing population.

The next census is not scheduled until 2030, but Republican-ruled Texas, under pressure from Trump, decided to redraw its congressional maps mid-decade to yield more Republican districts.

Texas Governor Greg Abbott celebrated the decision.

"We won! Texas is officially —and legally—more red," he wrote on X. AFP

FLOOD-HIT ACEH MAY SEE MORE RAINS

Survivors in Indonesia were piecing back shattered lives on Friday after devastating floods killed more than 1,750 people across five countries, with fears of fresh misery as more rain looms. Indonesia's meteorological agency warned Aceh could see "very heavy rain" through Saturday, with North and West Sumatra also at risk.Indonesia has borne the brunt of the disaster, with its toll rising to 867 dead, and 521 remaining missing, authorities said. Many are in Aceh province on the island of Sumatra, where more than 8,00,000 people have also been displaced.

Schoolgirls pressured to convert in Pak's Sindh

Washington: Some Hindu girl students in Pakistan's Sindh province have allegedly been told to convert to Islam to continue their studies, prompting the government to order an inquiry, an official said on Friday. In late November, parents of some Hindu girl students at the Government High School in Mirpur Sakro in Sindh said the school's headmistress had asked the Hindu students to convert to Islam. It sparked outrage as the parents alleged that the Hindu students were being forced to recite the Kalma

Munir appointed as Pak Chief of Defence Forces

Islamabad: Pakistan's defence ministry on Friday officially notified the appointment of Field Marshal Asim Munir as the first Chief of Defence Forces, a move aimed at the major restructuring of the military command since the 1970s. The development came a day after President Asif Ali Zardari approved Munir's appointment. The "president, on the advice of the prime minister, is pleased to appoint Field Marshal Asim Munir as the chief of army staff, concurrently the chief of defence forces for five years," Dawn reported

US military's focus to shift to Latin America

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump's administration set forth a new national security strategy that paints European allies as weak and aims to reassert America's dominance in the Western Hemisphere.

The document released on Friday by the White House is sure to roil long-standing US allies in Europe for its scathing critiques of their migration and free speech policies, suggesting they face the "prospect of civilisational erasure" and raising doubts about their long-term reliability as American partners.

It reinforces, in sometimes chilly and bellicose terms, Trump's "America First" philosophy, which favours non-intervention overseas, questions decades of strategic relationships and prioritises US interests above all. The US strategy "is motivated above all by what works for America — or, in two words, 'America First,'" the document said.

This is the first national security strategy, a document the administration is required by law to release, since the Republican president's return to office in January. It is a stark break from the course set by President Joe Biden's Democratic administration, which sought to reinvigorate alliances after many were rattled in Trump's first term and to check a more assertive Russia.

The United States is seeking to broker an end to Russia's nearly four-year-old war in Ukraine, a goal that the national security strategy says is in America's vital interests. But the document makes clear that the US wants to improve its relationship with Russia after years of Moscow being treated as a global pariah and that ending the war is a core US interest to "reestablish strategic stability with Russia."

The document also is critical of America's European allies. They have found themselves sometimes at odds this year with Trump's shifting approaches to the Russia-Ukraine war and are facing domestic economic challenges as well as an existential crisis, according to the US. Economic stagnation in Europe "is eclipsed by the real and more stark prospect of civilisational erasure," the strategy document said. The US suggests that Europe is being enfeebled by its immigration policies, declining birthrates, "censorship of free speech and suppression of political opposition" and a "loss of national identities and self-confidence." AP

2027 deadline for Europe-led NATO defence: Report

Washington: The United States is urging Europe to take on the bulk of NATO's conventional defence responsibilities, including intelligence and missile systems, by 2027, Pentagon officials told diplomats in Washington this week, according to a Reuters report. Some European officials described the deadline as ambitious. Shifting this burden from the US to its NATO allies would fundamentally change how America, a founding member of the post-war alliance, collaborates with its closest military partners. US officials also warned that if Europe fails to meet the 2027 deadline, the US could withdraw from certain NATO defence coordination mechanisms

Pope Leo takes aim at Francis' controversial financial move

ROME

POPE Leo XIV has taken his biggest step yet to correct one of Pope Francis' more problematic financial moves, canceling a special Holy See fundraising commission that was announced under questionable circumstances while Francis was hospitalised. Leo on Thursday formally suppressed the fundraising commission, abrogated its statutes and fired its members. He decreed that its assets would go to the Holy See as a whole, and that the Vatican patrimony office would oversee the commission's extinction.

A new working group would be formed, with papally approved members, to come up with fundraising proposals and an appropriate structure going forward, the decree said.

The decree was the latest sign that as 2025 comes to an end, history's first American pope is wrapping up the loose ends of Francis' pontificate. Leo is correcting problems as needed and fulfilling Francis' Holy Year obligations as he looks ahead to the new year when he can focus more on his own agenda.

The Vatican had announced the creation of the commission, its statutes and members on Feb. 26, while Francis was in the hospital battling double pneumonia. At the time, he was being visited by the top officials of the Secretariat of State. The commission included only Italians with no professional fundraising experience. AFP

Israeli PM slams 'Bugs Bunny trial' against him

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu denounced the ongoing corruption case against him as a "Bugs Bunny trial" and defended his controversial pardon request in a video published on social media. The three-minute video, released late Thursday, came a week after Netanyahu formally requested a pardon from Israeli President Isaac Herzog, arguing that his prosecution was dividing the nation.

US President Donald Trump also sent a letter last month to Herzog with the same request. In the video shared online late Thursday, Netanyahu denounced the proceedings a "political trial" designed to force him from office, reiterating his long-standing denial of any wrongdoing.

The charges include two cases in which Netanyahu allegedly negotiated favourable media coverage from Israeli news outlets, and a third involving accusations he accepted more than $260,000 in luxury gifts -- including cigars, jewellery, and champagne from billionaires in exchange for political favours. A fourth corruption charge was previously dismissed. In the video, Netanyahu held up a Bugs Bunny puppet, mocking prosecutors for allegedly citing a cartoon doll he received as a gift for his son 29 years ago as evidence against him. "From now on, this trial will be known as the Bugs Bunny trial," he declared. Netanyahu further dismissed the cigar gifts as presents "from a friend" and claimed his alleged attempts to secure favourable coverage from "a second-rate internet site" instead resulted in "the most hateful, antagonistic, negative press coverage you can imagine in Israel. AFP

DAY'S DIARY

A free state

The Irish Free State, established under the terms of the treaty with the same constitutional status as Canada, came into existence in 1922

THE TREATY

The Anglo-Irish Treaty dictated that 26 out of 32 counties in Ireland would form the 'Irish Free State' dominion, and the six remaining could choose to opt in or out

CONTROVERSY IN TREATY

Association with the British Empire, and the oath of allegiance that Irish politicians would have to swear to the King of England, were two of the most controversial aspects

CONFLICT

Since the northern territory opted out of the treaty, years of conflict followed until 1998 when a power-sharing government was established

KNOWN FOR HIS ENDURING INTEREST IN REWORKING CLASSICS THROUGH CONTEMPORARY SENSIBILITIES, RAJAT KAPOOR SPEAKS TO CE ON HIS PLAY NOTHING LIKE LEAR AS IT COMES TO THE CITY

THE CLOWN'S LEAR

Q&A

SRUTHI HEMACHANDRAN

NOTHING Like Lear, a solo clown piece by actor-director Rajat Kapoor, strips William Shakespeare's tragedy down to its emotional core. The play, first staged in 2012 and starring actor Vinay Pathak, has quietly built a long life of its own, travelling across cities, without losing its intimacy. As the duo gear up for their next show in the city, Kapoor speaks to CE on approaching King Lear through vulnerability and using the language of clowning to excavate themes of power, ageing, madness and fractured family bonds.

Excerpts

What pushed you create a solo piece like Nothing Like Lear with one clown expressing the emotions of a Shakespeare tragedy, and how has it evolved over the years?
Nothing Like Lear has now been running for 13 years. After working on Hamlet, The Clown Prince, we wanted to do something with Lear. But to make it different, we decided to do it with just one actor and see what emerges from there. The audience has shaped the play through its interactivity. A responsive crowd can change the energy. In terms of evolution, it has shifted only about three per cent. The rest of the structure remains exactly as it was. Small improvisations have crept in, little textures that come from performing it over the years. But at its core, the play is still close to the version we began with.

When you adapt classics, how do you decide what to keep from the original and what to change, so it feels meaningful in today's time?
We go back to the classic and ask: Why do we want to do this play? What is it that attracts us to it? You don't want to lose the instinct. I'm not very interested in the plot, because that belongs to 400 years ago. What interests me are the core themes. When we began rehearsing King Lear, we asked ourselves what the play was really about: old age, fathers and daughters, the loss of power, blindness, madness. That's where we started building it. Once you engage with those ideas, you see how relevant they still are.

How did your early days with Chingari (theatre group in Delhi) shape the way you tell stories today?
That was 40 years ago, and you are certainly not the same person. One learns and hopefully brings that growth into one's craft, though those early influences never quite leave you. Chingari was an offshoot of Théâtre de Poche at the Alliance Française in Delhi, which meant French literature and theatre were strong early influences. Funnily, my first introduction to world theatre came through the Theatre of the Absurd and existential drama. Waiting for Godot, Ionesco, Sartre, Camus, Jean Genet were big people for us. Somehow, that idea of the absurd remained with me to an extent.

You often work with clowns in your plays. What does this form allow you to explore that traditional theatre doesn't?
Clowns allow for distance. Take Hamlet, for instance. A clown might deliver a Hamlet soliloquy and then step out of character to question it: Why does Hamlet behave the way he does? Why does he treat Ophelia so badly, even calling out the absurdity of his choices? It questions the play from within it, and judges it even while performing and creates a critical distance.

What makes actor Vinay Pathak the right person to carry a play as vulnerable and demanding as Nothing Like Lear?
I wouldn't do a play without him! In fact, I haven't worked without him for the last 25 years. It's the energy Vinay brings to the group, the rehearsal room, the theatre itself. In many ways, he's the fuel that keeps our theatre company going.

You're bringing the show to Bengaluru Theatre Festival this year. What does performing here mean to you?
Bengaluru has quite simply, one of the best audiences in the country. It comes from the city's young population, who are curious, literate and deeply engaged. We come here a couple of times a year with different productions, in different auditoria, and every single time the response is extraordinary. They understand what they're watching and that kind of attention is invaluable for theatre.

What's your take on Artificial Intelligence (AI) slowly creeping into writing, visuals and even performance?
People in the creative field are safe. AI can write, but then everybody can too. When writing becomes accessible to all, there will still be a need for someone who can write better, and that will not be AI. What makes a writer stand out is precisely that he isn't everybody else.

WHILE it's easy to fall into nihilism about the environmental crisis, as corporations and governments bigger and more powerful than us go back and forth on environmental action, individuals and communities across the world are deciding that enough is enough and taking charge of their environment. It is this spirit of resilience that All Living Things Environmental Film Festival (ALT EFF) is set to showcase with over 86 films from 39 countries to be screened across Indian cities, kicking off with a two-day event in Bengaluru. "You won't find films that are the classic David Attenborough-style nature documentaries here. We are looking for new perspectives, hyperlocal voices, under-represented geographies, films that provide audiences with an insight into the scale and nuance of this globally unprecedented change in the environment," says the festival's founder Kunal Khanna, adding, "When we watch these films, there's a sense of hope, direction, and inspiration to make change."

This weekend, Bengalureans can see films being screened along with panel discussions and live performances, 'Beware of Plastic Asura: A Yakshagana performance' being one. A major highlight will be a set of three Australian films on show through a collaboration with the Australian Consulate in Bengaluru. Khanna elaborates, "One film, Ngarridurndeng Kured, is about the indigenous culture of Australia, the longest living culture in the world that has continued to live in the same traditional ways for over 30,000 years now and the implications of that in the modern world." Another, titled Future Council follows eight kids on a road trip across Europe to meet with powerful leaders and find solutions to our greatest ecological challenges. An interesting feature will be an immersive installation that allows visitors to experience the feeling of being in Australia's forests.

Indian films too, in languages from Kannada, Marwadi, and Bengali to Garo and Khasi, will be screened, many of which are India premieres. Other highlights include Mushroom Keepers, exploring the relationship indigenous people in Meghalaya share with the fungi and Miyazaki – Spirit of Nature about Studio Ghibli filmmaker Hayao Miyazaki's depiction of nature in his films.

This year, a new initiative seeks to make the films at ALT EFF more accessible with 'watch parties' that anyone can sign up to host, as long as they have a space, an internet connection, and people to watch with. "We wanted to further democratise the experience with watch parties – anyone can become a host and use their own space to bring a community together and have informed climate conversations. There are eight bundles of films, all with around three hours of watch time to choose from," explains Khanna.

On the last day of the festival, Dec 14, another ALT EFF event will allow a small group of Bengalureans to sign up for a trip to Channapatna hosted with Local Narratives, that adds a new layer of understanding to the concerns explored in the films, Khanna says, "People will get to stay the night, watch films and engage in discussions (with artisans). It's a full immersion where people can experience the traditional way of making handicrafts and relate them back to the film."

(The festival will take place at Bangalore International Centre on Dec 6 and 7, from 12pm onwards. For more information, visit alteff.in)

Event to bring together poetry and philosophical reflections

The Indian Heritage Academy, in collaboration with Azim Premji University, is organising Rumi Meets Kabir on December 6, at Indian Heritage Academy, Koramangala, from 6pm to 7.30pm, blend poetry and philosophical reflections inspired by Jalaluddin Rumi and Sant Kabir. The programme blends ghazals of Rumi with Nirgun bhajans of Kabir, accompanied by narratives drawn from Kabir's life and allegorical tales from Rumi's Masnavi. The evening will also feature poetry and dastangoi by Ashwin 'Afraad', along with vocals by Hindustani classical singer Sawani Shikhare. The event aims to offer audiences an accessible introduction to the shared themes within the two poets' works.

Artificial limb measurement camp to be organised today

Karnataka Marwari Samaj, in association with Bhagwan Mahaveer Viklang Sahayata Samiti (Jaipur Foot), is organising a free artificial limb measurement camp to support individuals with mobility disabilities. The event will take place on Saturday at Maharaja Agrasen Bhavan near Ashoka Pillar, Jayanagar, from 8am to 3pm. The camp will provide fittings for artificial limbs, calipers, crutches and other assistive devices, with assessments carried out by a team of prosthetic and orthotic experts to ensure personalised care. The initiative aims to help differently-abled individuals reclaim mobility, dignity and improved quality of life, with beneficiaries welcome from across Karnataka and neighbouring states. The camp is open to individuals with amputations and other mobility challenges.

BUILDING A BALANCED DIET FOR LONG-TERM WELLNESS

A truly balanced diet helps you stay healthy for a long-term. It is a sustainable pattern of eating that meets your body's nutritional needs consistently. It supports energy, performance, immunity, metabolic health and long-term well-being.

WHAT A BALANCED DIET NEEDS:

- Complex carbohydrates and fibre: From whole grains, millets, potatoes, legumes, and fibrous vegetables. These provide steady energy and support digestion.
- Lean protein: From sources like legumes, pulses, beans, eggs, dairy, fish, poultry or plant-based proteins (tofu, soy, etc.). Proteins help build and repair tissues, support immunity, and maintain muscle mass.
- Healthy fats: From nuts, seeds, oils (olive, mustard, canola), and fatty fish; needed for hormone health, nutrient absorption and cellular function. Limit saturated and trans fats.
- Fruits and vegetables: A wide variety and colour spectrum to ensure vitamins, minerals, antioxidants and fibre. Ideally, aim for multiple servings daily.
- Adequate hydration: Water plays a key role in all body functions, including digestion, nutrient transport, detoxification, and temperature regulation.

SMART HABITS TO BUILD LONG-TERM:

- Choose whole, minimally processed foods over refined grains, sugary drinks, processed meats, or high-salt/fat snacks. These 'empty calories' often lead to excess energy intake with little nutrition.
- Use a plate-method approach: Fill half your plate with vegetables/fruits, a quarter with whole grains/starches, and a quarter with a source of protein. Add a small portion of healthy fats if needed. This simple visual can help maintain balance without overthinking.
- Variety matters: Rotate grains (rice, millets, oats), proteins (legumes, dairy, lean meats, soy), and colourful produce to cover a broad range of micronutrients and prevent monotony.
- Be mindful of portion sizes: Even healthy foods can contribute to excess calories if portions are too large. Balance intake with your activity level and energy needs.
- Stay hydrated and moderate sugars/salt: Drink water throughout the day; limit sugary drinks, avoid excess salt, and use healthier cooking fats when possible.
- Adapt to lifestyle changes: If activity level increases (e.g. training, sports), adjust portions of protein and complex carbs to meet energy and recovery needs. If activity is low, focus on nutrient-dense, lower-calorie meals.

A balanced diet done right helps maintain steady energy, healthy body composition, stable metabolism, good digestion, immune resilience, and even supports mood and mental wellness. Over time, these habits reduce risks of chronic conditions like diabetes, cardiovascular disease, and nutrient deficiencies.

DARSHAN BELIEVES IN GIVING OPPORTUNITIES TO KANNADA ARTISTES: RACHANA RAI

The actor talks about her breakthrough Kannada debut, the difference it makes to an actor, working with director Prakash and Darshan, and more

Rachana Rai

A Still from the film

A SHARADHAA

IF any actor gets their first breakthrough role in a star-studded film, the experience would be surreal. That is exactly how Rachana Rai feels, as she is still adjusting to the reality of making her debut with The Devil and sharing the screen with Darshan.

"Whatever credit or love I am receiving from the audience and fans entirely goes to director Prakash Veer sir and Challenging Star Darshan," she says, and adds, "Darshan sir has always believed in giving opportunities to Kannada heroines and artistes. Even for technicians, he gives preference to our people. I got the chance through auditions."

Her first reaction to being part of the project was a mix of excitement and focus. "Honestly, I didn't even know it was Darshan's film when I first heard about it. I only knew Prakash sir was directing it. I considered Prakash sir's previous films like Milana and Vamshi, and gave my 100 per cent. When I came to know it was a Darshan film, I knew there would be many heroines who would line up wanting to work with him. I'm glad I got picked for this performance-oriented role," says Rachana Rai, who is looking forward to the film's release on December 11. The film has Kanthraj penning the dialogues, Sudhakar S Raj handling cinematography, and Ajaneesh Loknath composing the music.

With Darshan unavailable for promotions due to his legal troubles, Rachana and team of The Devil have stepped up to connect with the audience. "It is part of an actor's responsibility. Even after shooting, the work doesn't stop. Promotions matter. There's no pressure; it is our cinema. Of course, if Darshan is around, it is like the strength of 100 elephants, but this responsibility has been taken on by his fans and the team. Every film of his has been paisa vasool. This film, every scene, is made for the fans, and it will be celebrated."

While details of Rachana's character remain under wraps, the glamour song (Onde Ondu Sala) has already created a buzz. "I was told about the song before the shoot, and I was aware of it. From the moment I met Darshan sir, he made sure I was comfortable. I did my homework. Working with him was an opportunity I wanted to utilise fully. In any situation, any challenge, I didn't feel any difficulty as he gave me space, let me make mistakes, and helped me learn. Prakash sir is always calm; he rarely gets angry, and he makes sure the actors stay comfortable while taking exactly what he wants from their performance."

Talking about her space in a star film, Rachana adds, "This is Prakash sir's universe. Every artist has weight in their respective characters. The auditions were conducted to find actors who suited the roles. I can't reveal my full characterisation, but she is bold, beautiful, bubbly, and a supportive system for the hero and the film."

Off-screen, Rachana shares that she has been impressed with Darshan's personality. "Apart from his conversations about films and cars, Darshan sir is an encyclopedia when it comes to animals. I am a fan, and the animal lover in him has made me a lifelong admirer."

Rachana also reveals that meeting and interacting with Darshan's fans was an emotional highlight. "The way they are supporting the film, calling me the 'Devil Queen,' and shouting the DBoss slogan, it was a dream come true. We all work in the cinema to earn some love, and I have been receiving it right from my first film. They will stay with me forever," she concludes.

Star-studded trailer of 45 to break new ground

Arjun Janya and producer Ramesh Reddy explain how their new concept brings fans closer to Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty

CE FEATURES

THE countdown is on for 45, the pan-India multi-starrer featuring Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty. Produced by Ramesh Reddy under the Suraj Productions banner, the film marks Arjun Janya's directorial debut. It is set for a worldwide release on December 25. But before the Christmas premiere, fans can expect something truly unique.

"The trailer launch will take place in seven districts at the same time. This is a first in Indian cinema and will be held at Kempegowda Maidan near Vidyapeetha, Bengaluru. But that's just the start," said Arjun Janya. "With Cube technology, the trailer will stream live to theatres in Mysuru, Mangaluru, Tumakuru, Davanagere, Shivamogga, Hospet, and Hubballi. Fans in each location will experience the event together."

He added, "After the trailer, our three heroes—Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty—will speak directly to fans in all seven districts."

Producer Ramesh Reddy expressed his pride in the project, and said, "We are celebrating India's culture with 45. The trailer launch on December 15 will be one of a kind. Fans across Bengaluru, Mysuru, Mangaluru, Tumakuru, Davanagere, Shivamogga, Hospet, and Hubballi will take part in something truly special."

Talking about the trailer, Ramesh said, "The trailer captures the energy and ambition we've invested in the film." The film, which has been shot in multiple languages, has cinematography by Satya Hegde and dialogues by Anil Kumar.

Meanwhile, the promotional song AFRO Tapang, featuring Ugandan Ghetto Kids dancing with Shivarajkumar, Upendra, and Raj B Shetty, has already become a hit. "It brings a global touch to the film," Reddy noted.

With the trailer launch showing signs of turning into a complete cinematic event, the stage is set for the grand release of the film on December 25.

Nicolas Cage to lead Spider-Noir series

CE FEATURES

NICOLAS Cage is playing a version of Spider-Man/Peter Parker in executive producer and director Harry Bradbeer's live-action series Spider-Noir. A new poster for the series, unveiled the other day at São Paulo's Comic-Con Experience, confirms. Interestingly, Cage is also known for his voice role as Spider-Man Noir from Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse.

Marvel Comics first introduced writer Gerry Conway's character Ben Reilly in one of its 1975 magazine editions, titled The Amazing Spider-Man Volume 149. A version of Spider-Man/Peter Parker, Reilly turned from a foe of the former into one of his allies. Andy Samberg voiced the character in 2023's Spider-Man: Across the Spider-Verse.

As per the official logline from Prime Video, the Spider-Noir plot revolves around "an ageing and down-on-his-luck private investigator in 1930s New York, played by Academy Award winner Cage, who is forced to grapple with his past life as the city's one and only superhero."

The series from producer Sony Pictures Television will be released next year on Prime Video, a day after its US release on the M G M + channel. The producer will make it accessible in both colour and black and white formats.

A quiet, uneasy look at power and caste

DHARMAM
Director: Nagamukha Akki Alur
Cast: Sai Shashi Kumar, Viranika Shetty, SK Ramakrishna, Ashok Hegde, and Bheeshma Ramaiah

A SHARADHAA

DHARMAM does not ask for comfort. From the very first sepia-toned title card that sets the story in the late 80s and early 90s, it showcases a period when power dictated life and cruelty had become routine in the village. Karimuttu (Sai Shashikumar) moves through this world with quiet defiance, carrying much of the film's moral weight. Though this is a story told many times in Kannada cinema, Nagamukha Akki Alur presents it in a way that feels immediate, as if we are witnessing it firsthand rather than hearing it recounted.

The opening is harsh but measured: people are tortured by the police, a child's cry pierces the air, and officials debate whether to file a report. Justice is selective, morality fragile, and peace fleeting. The line, "If your dharma is to survive, your caste must be destroyed," arrives naturally, highlighting Karimuttu's personal struggle and the larger moral conflict at the heart of the film.

Supporting characters often feel narrower in scope. Neela (Viranika Shetty) mostly reacts to events, while Maara (Bheeshma Ramaiah) and Manikyam (Ashok Hegde) embody the ruthless authority of the village elite. SK Ramakrishna as Doreswamy leaves a small but notable mark. Most of the cast are newcomers, and some show sparks of sincerity, while others fall short of carrying the emotional weight required, which occasionally softens key moments.

Technically, Dharmam is assured. Nagashetty Malagi's cinematography and Nagamukha's direction create a muted, almost suffocating palette, reflecting the village's oppressive atmosphere. Swaminathan's score supports the tension without ever drawing attention away from the story. The film is straightforward, and with no unnecessary subplots or drawn-out romance, it keeps the focus on the social and moral questions the film raises.

Karimuttu's brooding presence works in parts, and Neela remains more symbolic than fully lived-in. Yet there is honesty here, a willingness to sit with discomfort. Dharmam asks viewers to consider power, oppression, and moral compromise. It doesn't offer easy answers, nor does it try. It simply shows the cost of survival in a world shaped by caste and cruelty, and reminds us that moral choices are rarely clear, and bravery often comes in silence.

RATING 2.5/5

Don Lee to headline Tygo

CE FEATURES

THE Extraction universe is expanding with Netflix announcing a new film, Tygo, starring Don Lee, Blackpink-fame Lisa Manobal, and Squid Game actor Lee Jin-uk. Written by Cha Woo-jin and directed by Lee Sang-yong, the film is based on an original graphic novel created by the Russo brothers, Anthony and Joe, along with Ande Parks. According to the makers, Tygo follows Tygo (Don Lee), a former child soldier turned mercenary who launches a revenge mission through Korea's criminal underworld after an operation goes awry. Netflix's Extraction, released in 2020, became the most-watched original film in the streamer's history, with over 99 million viewers during the first four weeks. Headlined by Chris Hemsworth and directed by Sam Hargrave, the film was written by Joe Russo. A sequel, Extraction 2, was released in 2023.

This spy-gangster drama ignites but never takes off

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

A MAN in a pathani, sporting a flowing beard and a mane, crosses over towards Pakistan at the Afghanistan border. He boards a bus to Karachi. Till now, the man has no name. He gets off and looks up at a board which reads: Lyari town. No slow-mo or low-angle shot announces Ranveer Singh's arrival. His first night, he gets beaten up and narrowly escapes being sodomised. The next morning, he is gobbling at morsels given by a well-wisher. Welcome to Pakistan.

After setting up a predictable context, which includes the retelling of the 1999 Kandahar hijack and the 2001 Parliament attack, Dhurandhar begins with novelistic promise. It is divided into chapters, with derivative titles like "Price of peace" and "Et Tu Brutus". Still, it was impressive to watch a film which isn't eager to impress. It calmly sets up the story. Dhurandhar appears to be a film which is asking for your time, so that it can lay down its cards. But then two hours have passed, and the ace seems to be still far up its sleeves. After the Kandahar and Parliament embarrassments, the country's secret service chief Ajay Sanyal (R Madhavan), is prepping. There is a mention of a "radical" operation called 'Dhurandhar' to infiltrate the mafia gangs in Pakistan and, in the process, hit an important link in the neighbouring country's terror network. Our man in Pakistan is code-named Hamza Ali Mazari (Ranveer). He is posing as a Baloch to get into the gang and the good books of Rehman Dakait (Akhshaye Khanna), the local strongman of Lyari. It's a crucial locality and winning over it means ruling over Karachi and ultimately the whole of Pakistan. There are other pieces on this chessboard of power as well. Sanjay Dutt plays SP Chaudhary Aslam, a bad cop with a past enmity with Rehman; ISI chief Major Iqbal (Arjun Rampal), who is procuring weapons from Rehman to execute terror attacks in India. There is also Jameel Jamali (Rakesh Bedi), the skittish sitting MLA of Lyari, who once patronised Rehman but is now getting wary of his increasing power. In all of this, Ranveer's Hamza is the Trojan horse, playing these characters against each other to dismantle the whole kingdom.

Dhurandhar blends the elements of a spy-thriller and an epic gangster saga. The result is a film which is always pregnant with promise but never delivers. At a runtime of more than three hours, the film sometimes hits but often misses on the engagement meter. It packs a lot. Apart from the above-mentioned terror attacks, there is also a mention of the 26/11 Mumbai attacks and a track about how Pakistan transports fake currency into India via Nepal. The film might as well have a disclaimer pronouncing how the events shown in it are "fictionalised for entertainment", but what it is really seeking is to be considered as seriously as a documentary.

It's a pity that Dhurandhar can only be praised for what it didn't end up being. It is not a vile, loud, chest-thumping patriotism flick. Its propaganda is sophisticated, and I don't know which is worse. The film is set during the Congress regime, and Madhavan's Ajay frequently expresses his need for a stronger, more patriotic government at the centre. Director Aditya Dhar demonstrates technical finesse in action sequences, which are few in number and confuse gore for propulsion. Dhurandhar piques interest but never peaks. It tries to showcase itself as a film with a labyrinthine plot filled with twists and turns, but it is fairly comprehensible. What we get is a god-awful "To be continued…" and a promise of a second part.
